Rock County voters turn out in high numbers for 2018 election

By Lori Sorenson

Incumbents held on to their seats in the Luverne School Board election and the District 22A House contest, but there were upsets in the Vienna Township and Magnolia council elections.

Luverne School Board incumbents Katie Baustian (1,219 votes) Jodi Bosch (1,279), Eric Hartman (986) and Reva Sehr (1,078) held off challengers Jerry Benson (829) and Kenny Rolling (644). There were 59 write-ins. These numbers were as of 10 p.m. with 21 of 22 precincts reporting.

In the race for Vienna Township Supervisor C, challenger Brad Skattum upended long-time incumbent Kraig Rust by a vote of 46-28.

On the Magnolia City Council, incumbent Gary Lee had 37 votes (38.96 percent) to keep his seat on the council, but incumbent Melanie Madison and challenger Jeff DeGroot tied for votes at 24 apiece (25.26 percent each). Sheila Jones had 8 votes and there were two write-ins.

Minnesota District 22A House race, incumbent Joe Schomacker (R-Luverne) was leading DFL challenger Max Kaufmann with more than 65 percent of the votes as of 10 p.m. Tuesday night (with 108 of 110 precincts reporting),

The bigger story with the 2018 Midterm elections, however, is voter participation. Seventy-three percent of Rock County's 5,159 eligible voters participated in the 2018 election.

"It was great to see all the new voter registrations," said Rock County Auditor Treasurer Ashley Kurtz.

"People were coming in through the whole process — young people, older people, people who had never voted before."

She said the 2018 turn out in Rock County was particularly high considering it's only a midterm election.

In addition to a politically charged national contest for control of Congress, local participation was spurred by additional voting options.

For one thing, 18 of Rock County's 24 precincts now vote by mail ballot, and the option for early voting and absentee ballots makes the process easier than ever.

"We like it, too, because we can process those first and get them out of the way before the polls close," Kurtz said.

By day's end Tuesday, her office received 423 absentee ballots and more than 1,345 mail ballots.

In the race for Minnesota governor, DFL candidate Tim Walz was leading his GOP opponent Jeff Johnson by a wide enough margin for AP to name Walz the new Minnesota governor. Other races were still too close to call as of 10 p.m. Tuesday.

See the Minnesota Secretary of State website sos.mn.us for all the latest election results.

Tru Shrimp proceeds with plans in Luverne

By Lori Sorenson

Tru Shrimp announced Tuesday that engineering and construction plans are finalized for the 67-acre harbor complex coming to Luverne, and groundbreaking is on track for next summer.

The announcement comes on the heels of the Balaton Cove Hatchery successfully coming online with the first broodstock shrimp transferred from the company's genetics partner, Oceanic Institute.

"They are now stocked and growing in the pristine habitat of our indoor tidal basins," said tru Shrimp president and CEO Michael Ziebell.

"They are mating, spawning, and offspring are growing in our created seawater. The partnership with Oceanic Institute and the development of our hatchery mark the final steps of a truly integrated shrimp company."

Tru Shrimp is nearly four years in the making following the company's methodical and thorough technology development to grow shrimp in the Upper Midwest, indoors.

"Three years of research accompanied by painstaking engineering, construction development, and creation of a thorough business plan all enabled the board to agree to proceed with Luverne Bay Harbor and take the next steps toward commercialization," said Brian Knochenmus, chairman of the board of tru Shrimp.

Ziebell said the technology, science and engineering brought tru Shrimp to this point.

"The team and I are very proud and excited to continue the next step in our journey in Luverne," he said. "The City of Luverne and Rock County officials have been great partners in this process and we're honored to join their community."

Luverne Mayor Pat Baustian reacted to the announcement Tuesday.

St. Catherine's to host 25th Fall Fest

Lots of time and talent will be on display Saturday night during the 25th Annual St. Catherine's Church Fall Fest at Grand Prairie Events in Volunteers have spent months planning the gourmet meal, dessert dash, prize raffles, silent and live auction items for the evening devoted to fundraising for the church.

The event showcases the talents of many volunteers, especially the dessert makers.

For the past two years, volunteer Susan Schneekloth's desserts have been sought-after items during the evening meal's dessert dash and again later during the live auction of her dessert-a-month-for-a-year donation.

Bids have reached over $1,000 during the dessert dash event.

It features diners placing monetary donations into envelopes. The amount determines the order the table selects high-end desserts made by volunteers like Schneekloth.

"I am more surprised as it (the bid) gets higher and I get nervous,"

Baking is not a full-time profession for Schneekloth, who is an accounting technician at the Minnesota Veterans Home in Luverne.

"Baking is my therapy," she said. Her baking therapy has been well received by bidders of the live auction.

Schneekloth's monthly dessert offering has reached bids of $280 and $400 in the two years she has placed her baking talent on the auction block.

Luverne Ace Hardware celebrates 15-year anniversary

By Lori Sorenson

Luverne Ace Hardware is observing its 15th anniversary, and store manager Kevin Mick  $said \, there \'s \, plenty \, to \, celebrate$ on the landmark year.

"It's a great store with local services that give you the benefit of stocking what your customers need and want," Mick said.

The store will observe the occasion on Saturday, Nov. 10, with free hotdogs and refreshments from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The store will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. with 20 percent discounts offered nearly storewide.

The day will feature handson demonstrations with Milwaukee Tools and Benjamin Moore paint sampling, as well as door prizes and goodie bags to the first 100 customers.

the years since then, it has added over 1,000 square feet of popular lines of home décor and giftware.

The paint department continues to draw customers with specialists to help match colors and textures.

"We also do our best to get new popular brands in the store such as Magnolia Home paint," Mick said.

"That's what's nice here we're not just a hardware store."

He said the store now has the advantage of five-day-aweek freight, "which means we can get most items for you the next day; no longer do you have to wait for our weekly truck," Mick said.

"It's options like these that allow us to better serve our customers."

Mick has been with Luverne Ace Hardware for over six years and with the Ace Hardware family for more than 32 years.

He is continuing as store manager after Darrell "Rocky" Rockman retired this fall.

The store employs 25 people; four of them are full time employees.

Van Aartsen said this is what makes the play so enjoyable.

"It's a play inside a play," she said. "It's written to have some slip-ups. ... It's a fun play."

This isn't Van Aartsen's first foray into play directing; she previously directed Green Earth Players productions such as "Cheaper by the Dozen" and "Kids Say

In fact this isn't her first shot at the "Christmas Pageant," which she directed for the American Reformed Church performance several years ago.

Molly Carbonneau is assistant director and Sue Sandbulte is music director. Darrel Van Aartsen is technical director and Dianne Ossenfort is producer.

The cast began rehearsing their roles Oct. 1 and practiced three times a week at the Grean Earth Players building on West Main Street.

"My favorite part of this has been watching the kids become their characters," Van Aartsen said.

"We spent the first rehearsals helping them get past being shy and seeing their characters, and then later getting them to not overact their characters."

Government class seeks help from community

By Lori Sorenson

Luverne High School government teacher David Rysdam is seeking help from the community for his upcoming section on local government.

"I like to look at local issues as a way to cover the content," said Rysdam, who is in his third year of teaching in Luverne.

Part of his next study unit includes a survey put out by the students to the faculty and community to gain information and find new points of interests to be studied.

The link, https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/NNKLFVT, will be live after 5 p.m. on Nov. 13 and asks questions related to "What is the role of county government?"

Rysdam said his students are fortunate to live in a community with active growth, which allows them to see firsthand how local governments play a role in the lives of citizens.

"My first year the students were lucky enough to study tru Shrimp and their potential landing in Luverne and what that means for local government as well as the economy," Rysdam said.

"Year 2 we studied the school referendum and how the school district took advantage of favorable loan opportunities provided by the state and their work with the community to secure improvements for building, as well as a performing arts center that the whole community can take advantage of."

This year Rysdam said students will study county government and its roll in working toward development in the area.

Lewis and Clark Regional Water System, rural broadband coverage and wind and solar energy are all topics that have been at the forefront of county interest over the past several years.

"We will be taking a look at these issues and how the county works with local, state and federal governments, as well as private industry, to carry out its duties," Rysdam said.

He encourages area residents to participate in the survey his students compiled in order to help them with their study of local governments.

Veterans Day marks the end of World War I and is a day to remember military veterans who fought for freedom and peace throughout the world.

Sunday marks the 100th anniversary of the end of World War I, and in Luverne a piece of that century-old war quietly hangs in Lee Alexander's home on North Blue Mound Avenue home on North Blue Mound Avenue. Each morning for decades, Alexander has walked past the framed letter and envelope hanging on the wall by her front door.

The letter shows a royal crest and the words "Windsor Castle" printed in red ink across the top followed by 13 lines of a hand-written message from King George V.

The King thanked Alexander's late father-in-law Clarence for helping the people of the British Isles "to take stand beside many nations now fighting in the Old World the great battle for human freedom.

"... I wish that I could shake the hand of each one of you & bid you God speed on your mission," the note dated April 1918 ended.

It was addressed to Clarence Alexander's mom, Rose, in Franklin, Pennsylvania.

By the time of its arrival, a drafted Clarence was in the midst of what would be 13 months of military service.

Seven months after the letter was written, Germany declared a cessation of hostilities that became effective at 11 a.m. on the  $11^{\rm th}$  day of the  $11^{\rm th}$  month in 1918 and ended World War I.

The 100th anniversary of the war's end prompted Alexander to remember the letter and other military memorabilia in her home.

They include framed pictures of Clarence and his squadron, a framed letter from Clarence written during World War I to home, and military medals from her husband Robert's service during the Korean War.

Several years ago, Alexander added the medal given to soldiers who served in World War I.

She is unsure what happened to the actual medal Clarence would have received for his military service, but locating one from the Medals of America Company was an important find for Alexander.

"Ithoughtit made closure for all the other pictures," she said. "It's a story of one man. That's what I like best about it."

Clarence was drafted into the U.S. Army and assigned to the aviation section, which later developed into the Air Force in 1947.

Clarence was stationed near London during some of the 13 months of his military service, and for his service he received a pension.

A simple reality of accepting free T-shirts is sometimes you can have too many in your household.

Case in point: two florescent green T-shirts.

> Same color. Same logos. Different sizes.

Last year I began folding Tshirts into rectangle shapes. In the drawers they stand on end like envelopes in a box. Only the T-shirts' color distinguishes one from the other.

When there were six people in my household, it wasn't unusual for the wrong-sized Tshirt to be in the wrong drawer.

Now that there are only two of us at home, the wrong size in the wrong drawer is downright funny.

One recent morning my husband, Bryan, quickly grabbed a florescent T-shirt out of his drawer and hurriedly slipped it on as his dad entered the house.

As he emerged from the bedroom, he quickly pulled the T-shirt down into place.

He began talking with his dad leading to the kitchen table, tugging the T-shirt down into place again.

At the table talking commenced about business - with Bryan pulling down at the shirt again and again.

When Bryan told me that the T-shirt seemed to fit just fine last week but now didn't want to stay in place, I burst out in uncontrollable laughter.

Bryan then realized that maybe the florescent green shirt he grabbed from his drawer wasn't his after all.

Sure enough — the extralarge he meant to put on was a size large T-shirt, a free one that's too large for me but too good to recycle. In a pinch I will occasionally wear the shirt around the farm.

I think I will keep that florescent-colored shirt. It's a great reminder of a really funnys tory.

His intent, clearly, was to ensure that the staff at the store wasn't going to pocket any cash from the wallet before putting it in their safe, but that's not how the police perceived it.

If the wallet had been stolen and discarded where your father found it, it would be considered stolen property. The height of the bumper shall be determined by measuring from the bottom of the bumper, excluding any vertical bumper attachments, to the ground.

A vehicle which has an original bumper and does not exceed a height of 30 inches, may be modified by attaching a full width bumper to the original bumper to meet the height requirement. The attached bumper must be at least 4.5 inches vertically, be centered on the vehicle's centerline, extend at least 10 inches on either side of the frame, and be attached to the frame in at least four places with angle braces at no less than 45 degrees so that it effectively transfers impact to an extent equal to or greater than the original bumper.

Take time and thank our veterans

Sunday is Veterans Day, and as you may know, we observe Veterans Day on Nov. 11 because World War I ended on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of the year 1918.

I encourage you to stop what you're doing this Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and take a few moments to think about all the men and women who have served this country and the world for that matter.

If you have a veteran in your family or one in your neighborhood, take the time to tell them you appreciated their service, extend your hand and simply say thank you.

If you haven't toured the Herreid Military Museum or visited the Rock County Veterans Memorial recently, please do so this week. In addition to that, make plans to attend one of the events planned to honor our veterans. On Sunday, Nov. 11, the Hardwick Veterans Day Banquet gets underway with a 6 p.m. social hour and a 6:30 dinner followed by a program with guest speaker Lieutenant Thomas Nelson of the U.S. National Guard and special patriotic music by Maddie Oye.

On Monday, Nov. 12, there will be a 9:30 program at the Hills Beaver Creek High School Gym featuring a Veterans Day message and music by the Hills Beaver Creek High School Band.

At 2 p.m. Monday afternoon will be a Veterans Day program at the Luverne High School with a special Veterans Day message and performance by the Luverne High School Band. All of these events are open to the public.

She pointed out that when she and her husband, the late Gordy Helling, built their house on Barck Street 60 years ago there was nothing but a cornfield in their back yard.

"For each year of service, veterans would receive $10," Alexander remembered. "He received a $130 pension in the 1930s."

Upon Clarence's honorable discharge, he returned to Pennsylvania and resumed a civilian life and married his wife, Hazel.

Lee, who also grew up in Pennsylvania, married Clarence and Hazel's son Robert.

Hazel gave the King George V letter to Alexander in the late 1950s.

"I am the repository of family history," she explained.

Lee and Robert moved to Minnesota in 1977, when Robert accepted an engineering position with A.R. Wood Manufacturing.

Clarence and Hazel would often visit Robert, Lee and their two children Margie and Robert Jr. in Luverne.

Alexander said she has fond memories of Clarence, with his arm circled around a 3- or 4-year-old Robert Jr. on the couch watching a baseball game on TV.

"They never talked," Alexander remembered. What passed between the two may have prompted Robert Jr. to join the Air Force after his 1983 graduation from Luverne High School.

The King George V letter will be given to Robert Jr. per Alexander's wishes for continued preservation in the family.

She is unsure how many of the King George V letters were sent to U.S. families or how many letters still exist today. "I am just glad we have them saved," she said. "So many people throw things out." The United States joined the Allied nations of Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Romania and Japan in April 1917.

The six countries had resisted the advances of German, Austria-Hungarian and Turkish armies into Europe since July 1914. The United States' entrance into the conflict against Germany turned the fight in the Allies' favor. The U.S.'s decision to send troops prompted King George V to write letters to U.S. military families. Information at the Herreid Veterans Day, or Armistice Day in Europe, was declared an official U.S. holiday in 1938. In 1954 the holiday was redesignated to honor American veterans of all wars.

Former St. Mary's Church hosts first worship service as Trinity Temple

Special events planned for Saturday's service, which is open to the public

By Mavis Fodness

Newly named Trinity Temple in Ellsworth will host its first worship service at 5 p.m. Saturday with Pastor Bill Ostermeier at the pulpit.

"We are excited," said Ostermeier, who is also pastor at Jasper Community Church, an interdenominational, charismatic and full gospel Christian group.

The inter-denominational focus continues as Ostermeier organizes an additional congregation in the former St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The 133-year-old building continues as a place of worship after St. Mary's closed Oct. 5.

"We may have some differences but we are all brothers and sisters in the Lord," Ostermeier said.

Love, joy, peace and forgiveness (gifts from the Holy Spirit) are part of the temple's charismatic focus.

The worship service stemmed from Saturday night Bible studies in the temple basement where eight to nine people meet regularly to discuss what it means to be Christian.

"We had people interested and that's the main thing," Ostermeier said.

The group decided to organize the 5 p.m. Saturday worship service in lieu of Saturday's Bible study, along with a variety of activities leading up to it.

Various religious organizations are assisting the new church with the celebration.

The Christian Motorcyclists Association, the Redemption Riders based in Luverne, will serve a free pancake brunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday in the temple basement.

'We may have some differences but we are all brothers and sisters in the Lord.

— Pastor Bill Ostermeier

At the service, "Advent Cappell," a Seventh Day Adventist choir from Flandreau, South Dakota, will perform along with a quartet from the Ebenezer Christian Reformed Church in Leota.

"Insights for Men," an interdenominational Christian men's ministry based in Pipestone, will assist Ostermeier with the liturgy.

"It's kind of a full day for us," he said. "We are excited."

People interested in learning more about the Trinity Temple worship services can show up at 5 p.m. Saturdays or contact Ostermeier at billginny08@ icloud.com.

In 2013 Ostermeier organized Jasper Community Church in the former Rosedell Trinity Church in Jasper. Twenty families attend Sunday services and Bible studies (also on Wednesdays) in Jasper.

Ostermeier is retired and lives in Sioux Falls with his wife, Ginny.

 Rock County Commissioners voted unanimously to build a bus garage and offices for Heartland Express near the Law Enforcement Center on North Blue Mound Avenue.

The county must contribute 20 percent of a $618,750 budget to receive a $495,000 federal transportation grant.

The county has already spent $43,500 on architectural fees for the structure and will contribute a $43,080 in-kind payment using staff and equipment provided by the Rock County Highway Department.

Putting the nearly $500,000 federal grant to work in Rock County makes sense, according to Commissioner Jane Wildung. "This is a golden opportunity," she said.

There was little about Attu which Lt. Jensen could tell because of censorship restrictions. The Japs have all gone, he said, and although it is alleged that one remains on the island, he has never seen him. "The only Japs there are dead ones," he stated.

Attu, far out on the Aleutian chain, is close enough to Japan so that Japanese broadcasts come in clearly. "We often listened to 'Tokyo Rose,' the feminine broadcaster who speaks fluent English. •As a means of assisting the farmers of Rock county in overcoming the problems and situations that are rapidly developing out of the war, the federal government is urging the appointment of a county agricultural agent as an emergency measure.

A.D. Wilson, federal food administrator for Minnesota, has written County Auditor Skyberg, requesting that he advise him as to the date of the next meeting of the county commissioners, so that a representative of the government may meet with the board and fully explain the project.

Mr. Wilson states that there are federal funds to the amount of $1,800 available for each county for the employment of a county agricultural agent.

Last year's high bid for Schneekloth's monthly desserts was split between Mike and Cheryl Cox and Mike and Jennifer Engesser.

"Sue's desserts were always decadent, rich and delicious," Jennifer Engesser said. "They were way fancier than anything I would make at home."

Fall Fest is meant to be a special night out for families.

Chairpersons Jason and April Schutz hope all who attend Saturday night's event go home satisfied.

'We try to make it a lot of fun," Jason Schutz said. "(And) to make the event as familyfriendly as possible."

Children can attend a "pajama party" at the church, where activities such as popcorn and a movie are planned while parents attend the events at Grand Prairie Events.

Both events begin at 5:30 p.m. and both are open to the public. Along with Saturday night's activities, Fall Fest also involves the sale of raffle tickets, a bake sale and gift basket drawings at the church.

Fall Fest began in 1993 to supplement the church's liturgy budget.

Dave Knips was one of the original organizers.

"It was an event to bring parishioners together and as a result we could enhance our liturgy," he said. "At that time we raised $7,500 and we were happy with it."

The early Fall Fests were conducted at the church.

Parishioners and community members were invited to partake in a noon turkey dinner.

Raffles were conducted and the event expanded into a tent erected on the church property for children's games and musical entertainment.

At its peak, the dinner fundraiser raised about $18,000 and required dozens of volunteer workers.

Six years ago, organizers decided to change the Fall Fest format from a noon turkey dinner to a night out for adults and children.

The change was meant to refocus on the Fall Fest's original purpose. "This is a fundraiser first and foremost," said Kenny Rolling.

Rolling chaired the first revised Fall Fest in 2012, having brought the idea from Cold Spring, where St. Boniface Catholic Church conducts its "Boni Ball" each year.

The move away from the $8 turkey dinner to a $30 catered supper by the Bluestem boosted fundraising efforts to last year's total of $28,000.

"It is our largest fundraiser," said parish administrator Mary McLaughlin. "It is about 10 percent of our operating budget."

Dragons fall in finals

By John Rittenhouse

A magical volleyball season for the Adrian Dragons came to an end Saturday at Southwest Minnesota State University in Marshall.

Adrian qualified for the South Section 3A championship match for the first time in program history by defeating Tracy-Milroy-Balaton Tuesday in Worthington before capturing the tournament title with a win over Red Rock Central Thursday in Marshall.

The Dragons returned to SMSU Saturday to take on Minneota for the Section 3A championship, where they came up on the short end of a 3-0 decision.

Adrian ends the year with a 27-4 record.

Girls place fourth in state field

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne girls' cross country team wrapped up a successful 2018 season at the Minnesota State Cross Country Championships in Northfield Saturday.

The Cardinals had high hopesofplacingamongthetop three teams at the state classic, but that dream eluded LHS by seven points.

Luverneturnedina147-point effort, finishing fourth in a 16team field led by Perham (94) and Howard Lake Waverly (99).

Winona Cotter edged the Cardinals for third place with a 140-point effort.

"I know you would think our initial reaction of not meeting our ultimate goal of placing third would be disappointment," said Pete Janiszeski.

"When you look at everything in the grand scheme of things, we did pretty well. We placed fourth in the state for the third time in the past four years, and our point total was one of our best we've ever had at state. That's pretty good."

The Cardinals do have plenty to be proud of when it comes to their showing in Northfield.

They moved up two spots from placing sixth at last year's state meet, and their fourth-place effort matches the program-best finishes at the 2015 and 2016 state meets.

Only the 2005 LHS team, which placed fifth with 146 points, produced a lower point total at state than the 2018 edition of the Cardinals did on Saturday.

"Our kids competed hard and did what we needed to do. We just came up short of reaching our ultimate goal, but we are the fourth best Class A team in the state. That's not too bad considering there are some

MLA blanks H-BC in title tilt

By John Rittenhouse

The 2018 football season came to an end Thursday for the Hills-Beaver Creek Patriots during the Section 3 Nine-Man championship game at Southwest Minnesota State University in Marshall.

The second-seeded Patriots locked horns with No. 1 Mountain Lake Area in a game that gave the winner a berth in the state quarterfinals.

MLA extended its season by defeating H-BC for the second time this year.

The Wolverines handed the Patriots a 27-0 setback during a game played in Hills in early September and improved on that showing by posting a 34-0 victory in Thursday's rematch.

H-BC ends the season with a 9-2 record.

"I would be very surprised if MLA does not make the state championship game," said H-BC coach Rex Metzger.

"They are a very solid team both on offense and defense." H-BC, which carried an eight-game winning streak into the contest, couldn't get things going on either side of the ball.

MLA sported a 297-127 advantage in total vardage in the contest and produced points in three of the game's four quarters.

The Wolverines led 14-0 at halftime before outscoring the Patriots 20-0 in the second half.

MLA set the tone for the night by putting together an 11-play, 45-yard drive with its first offensive possession of the contest.

The Wolverines faced a fourth-and-nine situation during the final play of the series, which resulted in an 11-yard touchdown pass from Abraham Stoesz to Ethan Nickel that gave the Wolverines a 6-0 lead.

H-BC picked up one first down with its first offensive possession before punting the ball back to MLA.

Again, the Wolverines took advantage of a short field by covering 45 yards in five plays with Mace Herrig capping the possession with a five-yard touchdown run at the 3:23 mark of the first quarter.

Stoesz hooked up with David Larson for a successful conversion pass following the touchdown, giving MLA a 14-0 advantage it would take into the second half.

H-BCwasinapositiontostage a rally entering the second half, but the Wolverines dashed that prospect by producing touchdowns with their first three offensive possessions in the third and fourth quarters.

The Patriots received the kickoff to start the third quarter and lost the ball when MLA's Eli Karschnik recovered a fumble on the H-BC 30-yard line two plays into the third stanza.

MLA's Drake Harder registered a 29-yard run during the next play and Herrig scored on

A pair of Luverne High School boys wrapped up the 2018 season at the Minnesota State Class A Cross Country Championships in Northfield Saturday.

LHS senior Dalton DeSollar and junior Brayden Tofteland earned trips to Northfield by securing individual berths into the state classic during the Section 3A meet in Luverne Oct. 25.

They became the first LHS boys to compete in Northfield since 2014 on Saturday, where they battled hard as members of a 176-runner field.

"I thought our boys raced well," said LHS coach Pete Janiszeski.

"The times they recorded were comparable to what they had been doing all year, which is pretty good for kids running at state for the first time."

DeSollar topped Tofteland at the section meet, but it was Tofteland who turned in Luverne's top effort in Northfield.

The LHS junior placed 102nd with a time of 17:28.

DeSollar wasn't far behind Tofteland at the end of the race. The LHS senior finished the race in 117th with a 17:39 effort.

"I think both of our boys would have been happy if they ran times under 7:15, which was a difference of about 15 to 20 seconds or so. I thought they ran well, competed hard and I was pleased with their efforts. It was their first time running in Northfield, and which isn't an easy thing to do for runners who haven't experienced it before. You can talk about things like not starting out too fast or not starting out too slow, but you have to experience it for yourself because it really is a balancing act."

GenoUhrbom, asophomore from Greenway-Nashwauk-Keewatin, won the Class A individual title with a time of 15:38.

Perham claimed the team championship with 64 points.

Lac qui Parle Valley, the section 3A champion, placed fourth in the 16-team field with 170 points.

Redwood Valley, another Section 3A representative, capped the field with 329 points.

Minneota 3, AHS 0

The state's top-ranked Class A team derailed Adrian's trek to the state tournament when the Dragons met the Vikings for the section title Saturday in Marshall.

Minneota, which placed second at last year's state tournament, earned a return trip to the state classic during the title tilt.

The Vikings outscored AHS 75-47 during a 3-0 victory.

Adrian led 4-1 after Shawna Rogers delivered a kill early in the opening set before the Vikings went on a 16-4 run to open a 17-8 lead.

Minneota went on to win the set by nine points (25-16). The teams exchanged points early in the second set before the Vikings gained a 7-4 edge. Minneota proceeded to put together a 16-7 run to open a 12-point lead (23-11) before settling with a 25-14 victory at set's end.

The Vikings raced to a 10-2 lead on the way to building a 14-4 advantage in the third set.

AHS outscored the Vikings 13-11 the rest of the way, but it wasn't enough to keep Minneota from securing a 25-17

Kasie Tweet (24 set assists and 11 digs), Miah Kunkel (12 kills and 15 digs) and Bailey Lonneman (seven kills) played strong matches for the Dragons.

Mayssa Tweet, who charted 11 digs, completed 100 percent of her serves along with Rogers and Avery Balster.

Adrian 3, RRC 1

The Dragons captured their first South Section 3A Tournament title when they disposed of the Falcons in four sets at Southwest Minnesota State University in Marshall Thursday.

The second-seeded Dragons took the first two sets of the contest and bounced back from a third-set loss to claim the tournament championship with a win in the fourth set.

Adrian set the stage for victory by posting a pair of 25-21 wins to start the match.

The Dragons sported a pair of two-point cushions in the early stages of the opening set before opening a 10-5 lead when Marisa Lehnhoff registered a block to cap a 4-1 surge.

Fourth-seeded RRC battled back to trim the difference to one point at two different occasions before knotting the score at 15.

Adrian countered with a 5-1 spurt capped by a kill from Kunkel to open a 20-16 lead before prevailing by four points when Lonneman registered a set-ending kill.

The Dragons sported a pair of three-point leads early in the second set before expanding its advantage to six points (18-12) when Lehnhoff delivered a kill.

RRC fought back to trim the difference to one point (21-20) before the Dragons put together a 4-1 surge ending with a service point from Brianna Reckamp to lock up another four-point conquest.

The Falcons turned in their best performance during a third set that featured the score being tied at six different occasions.

The score was tied at eight when RRC went on a 14-3 run to opening a commanding 22-11 lead before winning by 11 points (25-14) shortly after that.

AHS sported a 4-0 lead early in a fourth set that was tied at seven different occasions.

The score was tied at 12 when the Dragons reeled off three consecutive points to gain a 15-12 lead after Kasie Tweetrecorded a service point.

RRC closed the margin to one point four times, including at 24-23 with the Falcons serving.

RRC's serve sailed over the back line, giving the Dragons the title with a 25-23 win.

Lehnhoff(13kills and seven digs), Kunkel (12 kills and 13 digs) and Lonneman (12 kills and eight digs) played well in the front row for AHS.

Kasie Tweet (21 digs, 36 set assists and 27 of 29 serving), Mayssa Tweet (100 percent serving and 21 digs), Shawna Rogers (100 percent serving and four blocks) and Balster (19 digs and 100 percent serving) played key roles in the victory as well.

Adrian 3, T-M-B 1

The Dragons qualified for their first postseason championship match in program history when they topped the Panthers during the semifinals in Worthington Oct. 30.

Adrian played well early to take a 2-0 advantage before the Panthers bounced back to win the third set.

AHS settled the issue by rolling to a convincing victory in the third set to notch its 26th win of the season.

Adrian fell behind 7-1 in the opening set and faced a 22-21 deficit before reeling off four consecutive points to secure a 25-21 win.

The second set belonged to the Dragons after they turned an 11-7 cushion into a 25-17

poper/ Jeep

victory by outscoring T-M-B the rest of the contest.

T-M-B returned the favor by opening an 8-4 lead that led to a 25-17 victory in the third set.

The fourth set was tied at six before Adrian embarked on a 19-8 run to secure a 25-14 win.

The night turned into a memorable one for AHS junior setter Kasie Tweet, who registered her 1,000th career set assist as a part of a 38-set assist effort.

Tweet also completed all 16 of her serves and recorded three aces.

Kunkel (19 kills, 17 digs and 15 of 15 serving), Balster (23 digs, five kills and four blocks), Lonneman (nine kills and six digs), Rogers (15 of 15 serving, three kills and three blocks) and Lehnhoff (four kills and 11 of 12 serving) also turned in strong efforts.

Reckamp completed all of her service attempts for the winners, while Mayssa Tweet was 11 of 12 serving and charted 16 digs.

Luverne's bid to advance to the championship match of the South Section 3AA VollevballTournamentdidn'tpan out Oct. 30 in Marshall.

The fifth-seeded Cardinals faced a difficult task when they took on No. 1 Marshall on the Tigers' home court during the semifinals.

In the end, Marshall lived up to its lofty billing.

The Tigers outscored LHS 50-17 to gain a 2-0 advantage and rallied from an early deficit in the third set to complete a 3-0 sweep of the match.

Luverne ends the season with a 12-14 record.

Luverne's Tacey Baustian served the first point of the opening set to give the Cards a quick lead, but Marshall countered with an 8-1 surge to gain a six-point lead (8-2).

The Cards closed the gap to four points (8-4) when Greta Ahrendt registered a service point before Marshall went on a 9-1 run to gain a commanding 17-5 advantage.

Another service point from Baustian closed the margin to 11 points (21-10), but Marshall scored four of the next seven points to seal a 25-13 victory.

my career in late August. It was a rather warm day with clear skies and a lot of sun, but that was a perfect situation for a meet that had both varsity teams running before noon.

To me, it was the second-best weather day of the season next to the Bruce Gluf Classic in Luverne a couple of weeks later, when more blue skies and before noon starting times made for a perfect morning to shoot a meet.

My luck changed in October, when the annual Luverne Invitational forced me to wear a stocking hat and gloves for the first time.

Along with the cool conditions, I was forced to stash my camera inside my coat to avoid the rain that appeared during the boys' varsity race.

Compared to the invitational in early October, the Section 3A meet later in the month was a walk in the park.

Rain on the day of the meet made for a soggy course for the runners and spectators, but I didn't have to hide the camera in my coat that I can remember during the

That left Saturday's state meet in Northfield to be my tiebreaker for the year, and I guess it worked in my favor.

I wasn't even concerned about the weather after watching a WCCO weather forecast on Wednesday that revealed no rain in the Northfield area around Saturday's race time. After a co-worker informed me on Friday that the forecast may have changed, I immediately logged onto The Weather Channel and found out that both of Saturday's early afternoon races would take place under light rains.

At that point, and after driving well past Fairmont with rain falling the entire way Saturday morning, I was ready to give the tiebreaker to Mother Nature.

I gained some hope when the rain ceased on the way to Albert Lea and when I traveled north on 35W, but I had to turn on my wipers again about 20 minutes away from Northfield.

Upon arriving at St. Olaf College, I believe I caught a break.

The rain totally disappeared, with the exception of an occasional sprinkle, and I'm happy to say that I remained dry for the two-plus hours I was on the course. It was a cool and somewhat breezy day at the state meet, but I knew things could have been worse.

I didn't get wet, so I'll call that a win for me.

Forty ping pong balls

A while ago, as I was scrolling through Facebook, something caught my eye. At first glance I thought it was a giant tube of cheeseballs. My initial reaction was jealousy, because I would absolutely love to have a giant tube of endless cheeseballs. But then something else entered my field of vision as I continued scrolling. Next to the giant plastic tube was a small vase also with some small spheres in it. Now I was really intrigued, so I turned my attention to the photo's caption: "Parents have over 3,000 hours a year (represented by the big tower of orange ping pong balls) to teach their kids about Christ. The church on the other hand has on average about 40 hours a year (represented by the small vase of ping pong balls) with a child to teach them about Jesus. Parents — we can't rely on church to be the only place they learn about God!" - Cory Austin

I don't know if Mr. Austin serves as a paid church worker, if he is a parent or if this photo was even originally his. But his caption transformed those ping pong balls into something powerful. It made me think about time. There are more hours in a year than 3,040 — in fact, it's over 8,700! How crazy it is to think that, according to this average, I spend less time with the youth in a year than I do in the office over one week? Christian education isn't something that can be cultivated in that time frame.

The old phrase, "It takes a village to raise a child," comes to mind. How are we as parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, friends and neighbors spending our time? Are we raising up those around us? Are we instructing and encouraging young believers in their faith? For all ages, many of those hours throughout the year are spent in school or at work. Maybe some are given to extracurricular activities. How many are we setting aside for God? Those ping pong balls can be a conviction for us all! But hopefully they are also an encouragement. We can make the most of every single one of those ping pong balls — every single hour we are blessed to have.

Our heavenly Father wants our time. He always has plenty of ping pong balls, uh ... I mean hours ... for us. From the Old Testament ("Do not be frightened, and do not be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go," Joshua 1:9) to the New ("And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age," Matthew 28:20) God lets us know that he is always by our side ready to be an everpresent help in trouble and a listening ear for our prayers.

May we be encouraged by the Gospel as we uplift others in teaching and sharing about Jesus, for every single hour is precious to Him.

I wish to thank the Beaver Creek City Council for the Retirement Party that they held for me. The 44 years have gone faster than one can imagine.
The people of Beaver Creek hold a special place in my heart, and at times when I needed help, we worked as an entire town or would help when I needed
it. The memories are mix of good and bad depending on what was happening at the time just like in everyone's life. Most of the time it has been a pleasure everyone's life. Most of the time it has been a pleasure going to work, but too many early mornings of snow does put a damper on one's attitude. I wish to thank all the people who came to the party, sent cards or just saw me on the street or businesses and wished me a happy retirement. I want to thank my family for understanding at times that my job came first, or helped me out when I needed it, and for coming to the party. Thanks again to everyone, and God Bless you all.
