32nd annual Buffalo Days set for this weekend

Cruise-In, parade, Arts in the Park, triathlon, Stories from Grave highlight Luverne celebration

By Lori Sorenson

Luverne will kick off summer this weekend with its 32nd annual Buffalo Days celebration.

"This year we have more great things to do on Buffalo Days Weekend than ever," said Luverne Chamber Director Jane Wildung Lanphere.

"Thanks to local businesses and organizations, the weekend is filled with fun and exciting things to do.

The weekend begins Friday with the annual Buffalo Days Cruise-In on Main Street in downtown Luverne.

All vehicles are welcome to this free event from 6 to 10:30 p.m. when corral parking will be available for over 250 cars, trucks, motorcycles and more.

A live rock 'n' roll band, "The Starfires," will perform, and food, beverages and a beer garden will be on hand.

New to the cruise-in this year is the ReMax Hot Air Balloon, which will offer rides from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at The Lake (aka Creamery Pond). Proceeds will benefit Children's Miracle Network

Saturday events start at 7 a.m. with the Kick the Can Iron Team Triathlon Relay.

Two to four-person teams will swim for 2.4 miles, bike for 112 miles and run for 26.2 miles.

The wave start is at 7 a.m. at the Luverne Area Aquatics and Fitness Center and will finish at 4 p.m.

Another opportunity for exercise will be at 8:15 a.m. when the Sanford 5K and 10K Run/Walk starts at Sanford Luverne Rehab.

Meanwhile hungry athletes, spectators and visitors can enjoy Dad's Belgian Waffle Feed from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the American Legion.

The ever-popular Arts in the Park at the Luverne City Park is from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. featuring artists, crafters, and unique retail vendors. There will also be international cuisine and local food vendors along with entertainment and fun for children throughout the day.

The annual Buffalo Days Parade on Main Street is at 10 a.m. and Skyway Helicopter Rides from City Park will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The day wraps up with Rock County Speedway Races at the Rock

Lois Nelson was honored during Monday's Memorial Day service in Maplewood Cemetery for her years of playing taps on the bugle her husband, Ray, found during World War II.

Final taps for the fallen

After more than 20 years of playing taps Lois Nelson retires World War II Japanese bugle

By Lori Sorenson

A battered brass bugle has joined the collection of World War II artifacts at the Herreid Military Museum in Luverne.

While it's still a functional instrument, it's now retired, as is its previous bugler, Lois Nelson, who played it for taps at hundreds of local funerals for veterans.

And for the first time in decades, its haunting notes weren't heard at Memorial Day ceremonies Monday.

"You reach a point where you have to give it up," said Nelson, now 87, who retired her duties after Veterans Day last fall.

To honor her years of service, Terrie Gulden presented Nelson with a plaque of appreciation at Monday's Memorial Day services in Maplewood Cemetery.

"She has been a wonderful gift to our veterans," Gulden said.

He explained that for 20 years she assisted the Honor Guard in providing military honor services, which include firing rifles, playing taps and presenting the American flag.

"Lois has been a faithful part of Honor Guard services by playing through rain, blowing snow, freezing temperatures, and very hot days," Gulden said.

"She very seldom missed a funeral and never complained about the conditions."

He said many small communities rely on taps being played through electronic devices.

"There is something special about hearing taps played live, especially through a bugle that is a piece of history," Gulden said.

The history of the bugle has been told many times, but it bears repeating.

Lois' late husband, Ray Nelson, brought the Japanese bugle back from a battle in the Philippines.

Taking a walk in their shoes

Luverne students collect footwear for children in Belize

By Mavis Fodness

In the final weeks of the 2015-16 school calendar, Luverne Elementary's fourth-grade teacher Jennifer Engesser asked students for their shoes.

"I figured we are coming to the end of the school year and many have outgrown their shoes," she said.

Engesser's request yielded various styles of footwear by the hundreds — all for the children in Belize.

"I never dreamed we'd get so many," said Brenda Williams of Luverne, a friend of Engesser's, who casually mentioned a request for shoes from another friend, Kim Bartling, Sioux Falls.

Bartling devotes much of her time volunteering in Belize, which is located on the Caribbean coast of northern Central America.

Earlier this year Bartling asked Williams if she could find six pairs of shoes for the children who often walk around their impoverished neighborhoods barefoot.

Williams said she visited a local Goodwill store only to find the necessary shoe sizes in poor condition and the purchase of new shoes was expensive.

She mentioned her dilemma to Engesser, who suggested she could help by organizing a shoe drive at Luverne Elementary.

"Luverne is the first to do a shoe drive for her (Bartling)," Williams said.

Expecting 10-15 pairs, Williams was surprised at the local response of hundreds of good quality, usable shoes.

After the first week of the shoe drive, Bartling took the first shipment of shoes to waiting children in Belize.

"This is so exciting as well as overwhelming," Bartling said via personal message from Belize. "I am continually humbled by the generosity of my neighbors — even this time when the neighbors are in Minnesota!"

Bartling plans to bring the rest of the shoes from Luverne during her next regular visit to Belize around August, in time for school.

However, transporting all the shoes has been expensive.

"I always hate to add this, but extra money is welcomed too," Bartling wrote. "As to transport the shoes adds up. My two extra 50 pounds (bags) cost $100 each."

Once the shoes arrived in Belize, Bartling said the children's excitement was overwhelming.

"One cannot imagine the excitement a gently used pair of tennis shoes can create," Bartling said.

Locally Engesser said she emailed

Oksness led a citizens group to raise money, design and erect the monument to Sampson, whose book, "Look Out Below!" became the inspiration for the 1998 movie, "Saving Private Ryan." Sampson was buried next to his mother on Jan. 28, 1996.

Memorial Day speaker Don Reker shares experience of losing brother to war in Vietnam

By Mavis Fodness

Don Reker's speech Monday morning in Hardwick wasn't from the perspective of a soldier. Instead, the rural Jasper farmer spoke from the point of view of a family member who lost a loved one during the Vietnam War.

"I have no message of patriotism on this Memorial Day except I know Bob was willing to serve his country and give his life so others didn't have to," Reker said.

As the sole surviving son, Reker wasn't called to active duty. Instead, he said, he was able to have a family, have grandchildren to enjoy and make a living at farming.

"These are the things that Bob knew he might be giving up when he enlisted in 1968," Reker said.

Robert "Bob" Reker graduated from Jasper High School in 1966 and attended one year of college at St. John's University. Don Reker said his brother decided college wasn't for him and enlisted in the Marine Corps.

After basic training and 12 weeks of Vietnamese language school, Bob Reker was assigned to the First Marine Division in Vietnam.

Each week the Reker family re-

New owners of Beaver Creek bar see first-month success

By Lori Sorenson

The Dam Creek Bar in Beaver Creek has been open since April 14, and the new owners are pleased with business so far.

"It's been wonderful," said one of the owners, Earl Vanden Bussche, Beaver Creek. "Our customers, our friends, the community — they've all been great."

Vanden Bussche is a newcomer to bar ownership, but he's no stranger to hard work.

He farmed for 21 years, worked at Hills Stainless Steel for 15 years and for the past seven years he's been at Fleetpride, Sioux Falls, where he still works 28 hours a week.

"I'm enjoying it," he said about his new venture.

"It took some time getting used to being on this side of the bar, but I get a chance to talk to everyone now."

He shares bar ownership with Marci Lee and Wade Hofer, Valley Springs, who had worked together for 10 years in the Valley Corner Bar.

They reopened the former Beaver Bar, which had been closed since Oct. 1, 2015.

Lee, who has 29 years of experience managing a bar in Valley Springs, knew what she was getting into when she decided to open the Beaver Creek bar with Hofer and Vanden Bussche.

"It's just more relaxed now," she said about being her own boss.

And she added that the business opened amid plenty of local support.

"Thanks to all our friends, old and new, for their support and patience," Lee said.

"The town of Beaver Creek has been awesome. They've been asking if we need anything ... They've been so helpful."

The bar opens at 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and Friday and Saturday the hours are 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. Pizza and microwave sandwiches are available.

The owners are working on a new logo for the bar and would appreciate suggestions from the community.

The phone number for Up the Dam Creek is 673-2528.

Hartquist named president of state funeral association

Luverne's Jeff Hartquist was named president of the Minnesota Funeral Directors Association at the group's recent annual convention.

Hartquist said he was "proud and humbled" to be selected for the role.

"Our funeral home has been a member of the association even before our family purchased the funeral home in January 2004," Hartquist said.

"We have been the only funeral home in Luverne and Rock County to be a part of the association since 2009."

In his acceptance speech, Hartquist talked about the fact that as funeral directors, "to whom much is given, much is expected."

It's a responsibility Hartquist said he takes to heart.

"We enter the lives of families at such an intimate moment," he said.

Jeff Hartquist (left) was installed as president by his father, Randy Hartquist, on May 24

"Sometimes we know the deceased and their family and sometimes we are just strangers. To walk with them in their journey through death, to educate them, help them create a ceremony that is reflective of their loved one's life, help them conduct that ceremony and be there for them after is very much an honor that we funeral directors are called to be a part of. I sincerely look at what I do as ministry, not work."

Hartquist said he also spoke about the critical role of funeral directors, quoting Sir William Ewart Gladstone.

He said, "Show me the manner in which a nation cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender mercies of its people, their respect for the laws of the land, and their loyalty to high ideals."

Hartquist was installed by his father, Randy Hartquist, on May 24 during the convention at the Treasure Island Resort and Convention Center near Red Wing.

Collection boxes were located around the school for students and staff to place the donated shoes.

Engesser said one of her students took to collecting all the unused shoes from home, bringing in three garbage bags full. "It was pretty simple," she said of the collection. "I really had a very small part."

Three authors coming to Rock County Library in June

By Mavis Fodness

Rock County Library Director Serena Gutnik likened the upcoming visits by three authors this month in Luverne to attending a music concert.

"Going to a concert is a totally different way to experience the artist," she said.

To those who love books, meeting their favorite authors is like meeting a rock star in person.

"And how often do you meet a rock star?" Gutnik asked.

People in Rock County have three opportunities to meet, get autographs and ask questions to three regional authors during the month of June.

William Kent Krueger will be at the Rock County Community Library Wednesday, June 8, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Krueger makes St. Paul his home and is known for his Cork O'Connor mystery series set in the north woods of Minnesota. He has earned a number of awards for his writing including the Minnesota Book Award (five times) and the Anthony Award for Best First Novel and Best Novel (three times).

The second author stops at the library a few weeks later.

Author Patrick "Packy" Mader relates compelling stories of athletes from every part of the state in his latest book. He currently lives in Northfield.

His book "Minnesota Gold: Conversations with Northland Athletes Competing on the World Stage" chronicles the efforts, perseverance and achievements of 57 Minnesota athletes from 1948 to 2014.

Mader will be at the Rock County Library June 23 from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

The third author visit is the husband and wife team of Phil and Sandy Hamman who visit Luverne on June 25 from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The couple wrote "Gitchie Girl: The Survivor's Inside Story of the Mass Murder that Shocked the Heartland." It's the couple's first book.

They tell the story of the 1973 murders at Gitchie Manitou State Park in Lyon County, Iowa. The book is from interviews the couple had with the lone survivor 40 years after the incident. Sandra Cheskey was 13 years old at the time of the rape and murders.

The author couple live in Sioux City, Iowa.

Their book is currently No. 1 on the true crimes best-seller list.

All the authors' appearances are sponsored in part through the Rock County Library, Plum Creek Library System or the Clean Water Land and Legacy Fund.

Each author visit is free and open to the public.

Evening diners at Sterling's enjoy their meals and drinks on the sidewalk Thursday night, May 26, when Luverne's mascots, Thunder and Rumble (in the background), make their grand debut.

'Throwback Thursdays' bring community together

By Lori Sorenson

Luverne businesses, shoppers and downtown visitors kicked off a summer of "Throwback Thursdays" last week on May 26.

They enjoyed live music, food, shops open late and hanging out with Thunder and Rumble, Luverne's new bison mascots.

"This is your chance to visit with friends, family and get ready for the Memorial Day Weekend," Chamber Director Jane Wildung Lanphere wrote in a May 25 email to Chamber members.

Throwback Thursdays are every fourth Thursday of the month from 5 to 9 p.m. on Main Street where Sterling's

Café & Grille features live music — outside if the weather permits or inside if not — and businesses are encouraged to offer special sales or attractions.

For the May 26 event, artist Lori Hallstrom hosted Chad Dykstra of Up In Smoke Pottery in front of her HGS Gallery where he demonstrated work on a pottery wheel. He also displayed finished pieces for sale.

Tyana's Boutique partnered with Mercie's Moonbeams Relay for Life Team on a fundraiser at the Boutique.

Those who posted selfies with Thunder and Rumble on the Chamber's Facebook page were eligible to receive a $50 cash prize.

Throwback Thursday is an effort of the Retail Marketing Group to generate downtown business on what has historically been a tradition of evening store hours. It joins three other Thursday night attractions — a free Bank Night movie at the Palace on the first Thursday of the month, Take 16 block parties are on the second Thursday of the month and music at the Hinky House is on the third Thursday.

Lanphere said the idea is to create a sense of community this summer.

"The real purpose is to bring Luverne residents 'outside' to share wonderful experiences and have the opportunity to get to know each other."

USDA extends deadline for recording farm structure

Gives non-family farming operations more time to restructure in response to 'Actively Engaged' Farm Management Rule

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced a one-time, 30-day extension to the June 1 deadline for recording farm organization structures related to Actively Engaged in Farming determinations.

This date is used to determine the level of interest an individual holds in a legal entity for the applicable program year.

Farming operations will now have until July 1 to complete their restructuring or finalize any operational change.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) issued the extension in response to farmers and ranchers who requested more time to comply, and to assure that everyone has enough time to provide their information under the new rules.

"Most farming and ranching organizations have been able to comply with the actively engaged rule," said Vilsack.

"This one-time extension should give producers who may still need to update their farm structure information the additional time to do so."

The 2014 Farm Bill provided the Secretary with the direction and authority to amend the Actively Engaged in Farming rules related to management.

The final rule established limits on the number of individuals who can qualify as actively engaged using only management.

Only one payment limit for management is allowed under the rule, with the ability to request up to two additional qualifying managers operations for large and complex operations.

The rule does not apply to farming operations comprised entirely of family members.

The rule also does not change the existing regulations related to contributions of land, capital, equipment or labor, or the existing regulations related to landowners with a risk in the crop or to spouses.

Producers that planted fall crops have until the 2017 crop year to comply with the new rules.

The payment limit associated with Farm Service Agency farm payments is generally limited annually to $125,000 per individual or entity.

From 1 to 4 p.m. local reenactors will share stories of the life and death of people in Rock County, and homemade pie and ice cream will be served.

Lanphere said she's looking forward to another successful Buffalo Days weekend in Luverne.

"Almost all of these events are free for visitors and residents alike. As a business, make your plans to take advantage of all the great things going on," she said.

"We build community by sharing experiences with others and this is a great weekend to do it."

Thumbs up dominate list except for a few obvious downers

Thumbs up to those of you who are keeping up with the fast-growing grass between the frequent May showers. Another thumbs up to those home and business owners who have taken the time to decorate with brightly colored flowers.

Thumbs down to those who cannot seem to find their lawnmowers...or their green thumbs.

Thumbs up to the forward-thinking congregation of the Zion Lutheran Church, the only place of worship in Hardwick. The group is concerned about the 67-year-old facility, and future plans call for a one-level church. Last week an abandoned house across the street from the church was demolished.

Thumbs up to Phase 1 of the Loop path. The project is a collaborative result of multiple citizen and government agencies working toward better community health.

Thumbs up to all city of Luverne spruce-ups. For example, 100 new boulevard trees have been planted and crosswalks have fresh paint. The Lake has big improvements (fishing pier, newly graveled parking lot and freshly seeded grass areas) and city mowers have kept everything neat and green.

Thumbs up to Ellsworth High School for offering National Honor Society membership opportunity to its student body. Three well-deserving students became its first members this year.

Thumbs down to state legislators who once again missed their deadlines. Shame on them! They've had an entire session to work out their differences and it's come down to an 11th hour stalemate on infrastructure funding that should have been at the top of the list. What if the private sector operated this way? We probably wouldn't get paid, and neither would they.

Thumbs down to the yellowish sticky stuff stuck onto the sides of houses and garages on the west side of Luverne. So far after several months of investigations and test there are no answers as to the cause.

Thumbs up to those who have taken the new picture wrap over the utility box at the corner of Main Street and Highway 75 in Luverne. The pictures of four area veterans that greet drivers and pedestrians are an appropriate theme for the new flag park.

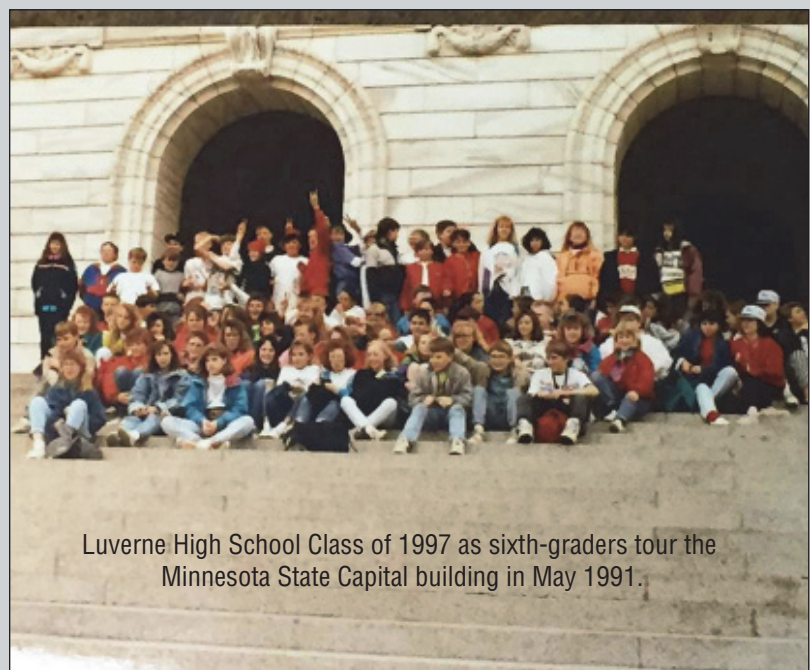

Thumbs up to those who have taken the time to pick up garbage by walking ditches between rain showers this spring. An extra big thumbs up to the Rotary project that cleaned the unadopted ditches around Luverne.

Thumbs down to those who don't know where to put their trash. Please don't litter.

Double thumbs down to thoughtless folks who dump garbage in recycling bins. For example, the Beaver Creek recycling shed recently was inundated by smelly household garbage and by large items (dog kennel) -- clearly not recyclable. This important service could be revoked if it's continually used for garbage.

Luverne High School Class of 1997 as sixth-graders tour the Minnesota State Capitol building in May 1991.

Sixth-grade trips prove 'the more things change, the more they stay the same'

I've always been a fan of the old saying, "The more things change, the more they stay the same."

I believe that's true and often notice examples of how it applies in life.

Each May I am reminded of this old adage when I organize the Adrian sixth-grade class trip to St. Paul.

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

It was 25 years ago this spring when my sixth-grade class from Luverne traveled to St. Paul for our field trip.

Sixth grade is the year you learn about Minnesota history, and the annual year-end trip to the Twin Cities to see the Capitol building and other sites is a rite of passage for young Minnesotans.

Each year when we take our Adrian sixth-graders, I think back to my own sixth-grade class trip.

In May of 1991, the LHS Class of 1997 toured the State Capitol, Science Museum, and the Minnesota Zoo, all in one big day.

I remember loving everything about the Capitol building (especially going to the top to see the "golden horses" up close), the museum, and the zoo for the first time.

I remember stopping at the Blue Earth Rest Area, having our class picture taken on the steps of the Capitol, and taking a break at the Albert Lea McDonald's on the way home.

Two weeks ago our Adrian sixth-graders got up early to get on a school bus with no air conditioning, bathroom, or seat belts to enjoy a big day of seeing the sites in the Twin Cities. We stopped at the rest area in Blue Earth on the way there and the Albert Lea McDonald's on the way home.

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

Sure, in 2016 we had kids wanting to spend the whole bus ride on cell phones and we used GPS to help find bus parking. The kids shared pictures on Snapchat and waved as a drone flew over us at Fort Snelling.

We also, however, had excited kids from a small town, some seeing the big city for the first time, enjoying time together on the bus and taking pictures while learning about their home state.

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

Thankfully not everything stays the same, however.

As I recall, all 100 or so of us were on two school buses for the big trip in 1991. When we got to Albert Lea on the way home, one of the two buses broke down at the truck stop on the far west edge of town.

The one remaining functional bus took us back to McDonald's where we sat for over two hours waiting for a replacement bus to arrive from Luverne.

The teacher in me today can only imagine what our teachers were thinking 25 years ago when 100 kids were stranded in a McDonald's for two hours longer than expected.

The memories I have, now 25 years old and processed as a sixth-grader, are of the teachers and chaperones stepping up to make an otherwise bad situation tolerable.

For example, I remember parent chaperone Mary Tilstra filling the time arm wrestling — and defeating — all the boys in our class. We were all amazed and impressed by her strength.

Two weeks ago, as the bus started and we left the Albert Lea McDonald's on time, I couldn't help but be thankful that, even as more things change, not all things stay the same.

Frakes: We've come a long way in the last 50 years

To the Editor:

I am amazed at how far we've come in the last 50 years. Our biggest accomplishment has probably been getting our women out of the house and into the workforce.

There has been another more recent milestone you may have overlooked. Our school-aged children are now mature enough to choose their own gender! Great accomplishment!

Every economist out there will tell you we need more consumption. Our kids are the answer. With all this maturity, we can now lower the drinking and driving age by three or four years. This is bound to increase consumption, so problem solved.

VOICE OF OUR READERS

I also think these amazing times will continue. I might be sticking my neck out here, but I'm going to predict that within the next 20 years, our airline cabin attendants will no longer have to show us how to operate a seat belt.

Are we progressive or what?

Please note that our Letters to the Editor policy during election season has some unique guidelines. For example, the Star Herald accepts only original letters — not form letters from campaigns. We do not accept letters written for the express purpose of endorsing candidates. Letters must focus on issues in a campaign rather than simply encouraging a vote for a candidate without merit. Above all, we encourage readers to be active participants in local, state and national elections, and the Star Herald looks forward to being part of the process. City spring spruce up Clem Hatting (pictured) and Rich DeSchepper refresh the crosswalk paint on Luverne's Main Street Thursday, May 26. It's among dozens of spring spruce-up projects underway in Luverne's Public Works Department. For example, mowing has been a full-time job, and 100 new trees in boulevards have required regular watering. Public Works Supervisor John Stoffel said Hatting and DeSchepper are the city's "Senior Division" in his department. Between the two of them, they have 144 years of combined work experience.

Ray, a Hills native who served as Rock County's Veterans Services Officer for 20 years, wrote down the story in 1992: "I discovered a small Japanese bugle hanging in a tree — another sign of probably a fast retreat ..." he wrote. "We came out of that battle tired, hungry and a few hundred yards closer to Baguio, and I was the proud owner of a real, bent and battered Japanese bugle ... I carried it through the Philippine Campaign on to Japan and home to Hills."

When he returned to Hills, he met and married Lois, who had come to teach in the high school. She was a science teacher and a musician.

It wasn't until their chil-

Lois Nelson received a plaque from the Luverne Honor Guard Monday.

dren were grown and she had retired from teaching that Lois committed in earnest to playing taps at military funerals.

She said she did it out of devotion to her husband and to veterans.

"I like to send off the departed veterans," she said. "It's a way to honor them for their service."

Younger brass musicians are now called on to play the "Taps," but Gulden said the distant echoes from the old Japanese horn will continue to honor veterans.

"Lois has honored our veterans in a very special way and I know that her husband, Ray, was very proud of her patriotic heart and service by using the bugle that represented such an important part of his life," Gulden said.

"We will miss having Lois play 'Taps' for us, but the memory of hearing that very special bugle ringing out over the silence of a mourning family will remain with us forever."

Learning more about government

Five juniors chosen for this year's Girls, Boys State events

By Mavis Fodness

Five Luverne High School juniors will learn more about how the U.S. government works in an experience reserved for a few select students.

Minnesota American Legion and Auxiliary-sponsored Boys and Girls State is open only to high school juniors and is financed by local Legion and Auxiliary groups.

While the primary purpose of the five-day Boys and Girls State events is to learn about government, participants also work on leadership skills and learn about their rights as citizens.

This year's Boys and Girls State will take place at the same time, June 12-18, but at different locations.

Girls State will be at Bethel University in St. Paul.

Emma Mumme of Hardwick will represent the Hardwick American Legion Auxiliary. Tianna Doppenberg of Luverne was chosen to represent the Luverne Auxiliary.

Boys State will be at Southwest Minnesota State University in Marshall.

Knute Oldre and Griffin Ahrendt, both of Luverne, were chosen by the Hardwick American Legion to attend. Dylan Thorson, also of Luverne, will represent the Luverne Legion.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 years ago (2006)

•Luverne will finally have what many have said is missing — a veterans memorial.

A father-son pair have spearheaded the project. Warren Herreid, a decorated veteran who's been active in the community, notes that a memorial would be appropriate for veterans of all branches of service from Rock County. ...

Rock County Commissioners have already given tentative approval for a memorial on the courthouse lawn near the cannon.

•Ferrellgas completed its move last week and is now at home in the new building located on the site where one of Luverne's most notorious eyesores, the Dehyd plant, used to exist.

The building, which originally was supposed to be 30-by-40 feet, had another 12 feet added to the depth for cold storage.

Two tanks, each of which holds 30,000 gallons of propane, were also moved last week and have been plumbed in at the new spot.

•Word has been received by counsels for the defense and plaintiffs that the case of the Luverne and Hardwick school districts will be heard by the Minnesota State Supreme Court on October 6.

When the case was heard last October, Judge Albin Pearson of Ramsey County ruled on the case there was no cause of action. The case has been appealed from Ramsey County.

Edgerton and Jasper School District had obtained temporary injunctions preventing the election for Hardwick district residents to vote on a plan to consolidate with Luverne.

Both the Edgerton and Jasper districts seek part of the Hardwick district. Judge Pearson's ruling on the case was appealed immediately by the two school districts.

•To Elwood Shackelford, Luverne McCormick-Deering dealer, goes the distinction of selling the first diesel row-crop tractor ever sold in this section, while, conversely, the distinction of owning the first diesel tractor goes to Emil Krogmann of Mound township.

While diesels have been used in larger tractors in construction work and in stationary units, this is the first row-crop tractor powered by a diesel brought to this section of the state.

•An important change in the status of the motion picture theatre business took place the first of the week, when the Princess theatre, which has been conducted by Peter Rober & Son, was permanently closed Saturday night. This action was brought about in part through the efforts of Manager R.G. Willert, of the Grand theatre, Manager Herman Jochims, of the New Palace theatre, by payment of a reasonable cash bonus.

Sign up early for 2017 conservation funding

Rock County agricultural producers looking to solve natural resource problems on their farms will want to plan ahead and sign up early for USDA funding.

Farmers interested in the Environmental Quality Incentives Program need to apply by Aug. 19 for funding in fiscal year 2017.

"EQIP is just one tool for landowners who want to apply conservation practices on the ground," said Kurt Halfmann with the Rock County Natural Resources Conservation Service office in Luverne.

"By working with the local NRCS offices, you can apply for NRCS programs which work best for your land."

EQIP is a voluntary program that provides financial and technical assistance to agricultural producers.

EQIP applications are accepted on a continuous basis. However NRCS establishes submission deadline dates for evaluation and ranking of eligible applications.

For more information contact the Rock County NRCS office at 283-9146 or visit the MN NRCS website.

Luverne, started with Jaycox Implement Monday, May 23. "I've really enjoyed it," he said about his new job.

"I get to work on a variety of equipment."

Vegetables growing fast for today's opening of the local Farmers Market

On April 18 I mentioned applying systemic rose care granules to my shrub roses to both feed them and protect them from sucking and chewing insects. That application is repeated at six-week intervals, so it is time to give them another shot of energy. The difference this product makes in the amount of fresh new growth the plant produces is phenomenal. I'll be its biggest advocate because I have a lot of different varieties of roses, and every one of them

KNOW IT AND GROW IT

By George Bonnema, Luverne Horticulturalist

responds with that same enthusiasm.

Farmers Market starts this Thursday and I am amazed at how fast our vegetable crops are growing. Early crops are looking promising, and I'm pretty sure we will have strawberries in a couple of weeks.

And speaking of strawberries, if this is a crop you are growing, I'm reminding you of the new critter we get to deal with. Drosophila is a tiny fruit fly that infests any soft skinned ripening fruit ... so we're talking grapes, strawberries, raspberries, cherries, plums, and blueberries.

The fly is tiny but easily recognizable because it has an exceptionally large red eye. The female fly pierces the ripening fruit skin and lays its egg inside the fruit. The white larvae hatch in a few days, depending on the temperature. And there you have it — gross!

One of the key elements in control is to keep the ripe fruit picked so there is not a generational succession of the insects. Refrigerating the fruit immediately after picking will kill the eggs. The population of this bug explodes when left unchecked, and your negligence in doing what you could do to control this pest is not something the rest of us are going to appreciate.

Malathion is one of the organophosphate chemicals that will control the beast, but I don't want to use that product on fruit with a textured skin like strawberries. It would be very hard to wash off.

Secondly, spray on the fruit is a byproduct of the control effort, because the spray has to make contact with the insect, and they hide under the leaves.

I have purchased an expensive organic spray called Entrust. It is made from a bacteria extracted from soil so it is harmless to humans, but I'm hoping not harmless to the drosophila ... and so the adventure (battle) continues.

Bonnema is a gardening enthusiast and former greenhouse owner. He can be reached at flowersgb@iuw.net.

1924: DeForce continues reminiscence of Luverne

The following appeared in the Rock County Herald on August 22, 1924:

OLE-TIMER RECALLS THE DAYS OF THE EARLY '70s

Collin Estey had the first pre-emption along the Rock river valley in Rock county. Mrs. Deborah Estey, her six sons, Amos, Collin, Orville, Al and Byron and two daughters. Ruth Estey Ferguson and Hulda, came here from time to time during the years 1867 to 1870. Mrs. Estey's homestead was located where Ashcreek now stands, east of the Ashcreek post office.

Mr. DeForce clearly recalls the first Fourth of July celebration, held in 1873 in Amos Estey's grove, one mile below Ashcreek. At that time Mr. DeForce was only ten years old and the settlers called on him to sing. He responded with the song, "Alcohol." Between fifty and sixty people, almost all of the settlers then in the county, were present.

Luverne could boast of

By Betty Mann, president Rock County Historical Society

only a few business houses in 1873. These were Wold and McKay's store, the only store in town, Hoffman's blacksmith shop, Estey's drug store and the office of George and P. J. Kniss and Martin Webber, bankers and real estate men in Luverne.

Wold's store was located in the building at present occupied as a home by Carl Pederson, at the corner of Main and Oakley streets; Estey's drug store in the present Skoland residence and the Kniss Bros. and Mr. Webber had their offices in the two buildings immediately west of the Skoland place, now occupied as homes.

The Luverne House, this section's most pretentious hotel, occupied a site where the Weick feed yards were located, and Mr. DeForce recalls that while a heavy, fleshy man, whose name he is unable to recall, was engaged in painting this building, the scaffold gave way and he fell a considerable distance to the ground, badly fracturing one of his ankles.

The weather was warm, and following a consultation, Dr. Crawford and another physician who did not remain here very long afterwards, decided that the injured man might develop infection from the fracture, and decided to forestall this possibility by amputating the injured foot, instead of taking chances by attempting to reset the broken bones.

The result was that the physicians brought their patient to the drug store, and after borrowing an ordinary meat saw from the meat market across the street, laid their patient out on a table in the drug store, and proceeded to cut the injured part of the limb off. With each stroke of the saw the patient gave voice to additional anguish, but the doctors kept at work until they had completed the disagreeable task. The patient survived the operation.

Mr. DeForce takes pride in the fact that he joined the Baptist congregation of this city in the summer of 1876, and has always retained membership in this denomination. He was formally baptized one Sunday morning in Rock River, about one hundred feet north of the present Main street bridge.

Donations to the Rock County Historical Society can be sent to the Rock County Historical Society, P.O. Box 741, Luverne, MN 56156.

Memorial Day services in Maplewood Cemetery featured speaker Rep. Joe Schomacker, Luverne, patriotic music by the Luverne High School Band and an address by Vietnam Veteran Terrie Gulden. The Maplewood Cemetery event was one of several in the area for residents to attend and remember those who served,

Vietnam Veteran Terrie Gulden is master of ceremonies at the Memorial Day ceremony in Maplewood Cemetery. He spoke of flag etiquette and recognized the volunteers who put up the flags for the holiday. He also mentioned that volunteers who take them down at the end of the day would be welcome, and that request yielded 20 citizen volunteers who helped. ceived a letter from Bob as he served overseas. When a letter didn't arrive as scheduled, Reker said his family knew something was wrong. Within days a Marine Corps vehicle came up to the family farm. "I knew this was going to change our lives forever," Reker said. Bob Reker became the first Rock County resident to be killed in action during the Vietnam War. "Bob was killed as a reminder that all service men's and women's families need to be remembered today," he said. Reker said he was an unwilling speaker for the Hardwick legion event but it was his late brother who changed his mind.

"If Bob was willing to enlist in the Marines at the height of the Vietnam War," he said, "I could speak to the Hardwick community and tell his story."

Reker concluded by encouraging everyone to visit the Herreid Military Museum in Luverne. At the museum is a display about his brother.

"All of the people involved in making that happen should be proud of a job well done," he said.

Smallest graduation class in H-BC history takes center stage May 27

By Mavis Fodness

Hills-Beaver Creek School District officials were reluctant to tout that the H-BC Class of 2016 comprised of nine seniors was the smallest in the school's 51-year history, but its top students embraced the significance in their student address at Friday night's commencement.

Valedictorian Thea Richards and Salutatorian Tessa Klarenbeek started their student address by stating that the Class of 2016 is the smallest graduation class since the schools merged in 1965. They also pointed out their class would receive diplomas in the fastest time.

After 40 minutes the nine seniors — Andrew Forshey, Hannah Glidewell, Tessa Klarenbeek, Trenton Kracht, Derek Kruid, Trevor Paulsen, Stuart Plimpton, Thea Richards and Cooper Vaughn — were in a receiving line greeting family, fellow students and the public.

The seniors chose "Less is more" for their class motto.

The students indicated they would be attending a two- or four-year college next year. One student, Trenton Kracht, has joined the National Guard, which received applause from the audience after the senior speakers thanked Kracht for his military service.

Reasons for the Class of 2016 low student numbers are many, said Superintendent Todd Holthaus prior to Friday's commencement exercises.

"I think it is just an anomaly; no specific reason, families come and go," he said.

Next year the Class of 2017 will graduate 24 students.

"Enrollment next year will be as high as it has ever been," he said.

H-BC's projected K-12 enrollment is expected to grow by as much as 15 students from 360 students to 375 for the 2016-17 school year.

The Luverne girls' golf team qualified for the second day of competition during the opening round of the Section 3AA Tournament May 25 at the Oakdale Golf Course near Buffalo Lake.

It was the second consecutive season LHS finished among the top five teams on Day 1 of the 36-hole tournament to advance for the final round.

Day 2 was staged back at Oakdale Tuesday.

Luverne finished play in the opening round with a total of 372 strokes, placing the Cardinals fourth in a field of 14 complete teams.

Minnewaska Area led the team competition with 338 strokes, while Jackson County Central and Marshall finished second and third with respective 344- and 356-stroke totals.

Worthington claimed the fifth and final qualifying position into the second round by registering a 376.

Makayla Sterrett and Hailey Remmel led the Cardinals with 91s, while Madison Crabtree and Hannah VerSteege added 93- and 97-stroke rounds to the team tally.

Gonnerman, Smedsrud advance for Cardinals

By John Rittenhouse

Two members of the Luverne High School boys' golf team extended their seasons during the first day of play at the Section 3AA Golf Tournament Thursday at the Oakdale Golf Course near Buffalo Lake.

LHS sophomore Coy Gonnerman and senior Chaz Smedsrud were two of 12 individuals to qualify for the tournament's second round, which was set for the same venue on Tuesday (May 31).

A player needed to card an 86 to make the second day of competition, and Gonnerman and Smedsrud made the cut by shooting 80- and 83-stroke rounds respectively.

They will be playing for one of the five individual berths into the state tournament that will be up for grabs when the tournament resumes.

With the top five teams advancing to the second day of section play, Luverne missed the trip by placing ninth as a squad with 352 strokes.

LHS completes team competition with a 25-28 record.

Minnewaska Area (294), Worthington (326), New Ulm (327), New London-Spicer (330) and Litchfield (332) are contending for the team title, and one squad will advance to state as the section champion.

Along with the efforts turned in by Gonnerman and Smedsrud, Carter Stemper and Max Skattum added respective 94- and 95-stroke scores to Luverne's team tally.

Jacob Van Santen shot a 110 without impacting the scoring.

Netters take Section 3A title

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne boys captured their seventh consecutive Section 3A Team Tennis championship May 24 in Redwood Falls.

LHS, the tournament's top seed, edged No. 4 Redwood Valley by one point in the semifinals before rolling to a five-point win over No. 2 Montevideo in the championship match.

The win sends the 16-1 Cardinals to the Minnesota State Class A Tennis Tournament at the Reed-Sweat Family Tennis Center in Minneapolis.

LHS takes on Section 6 champion Foley at 8 a.m., Tuesday, June 7, in the quarterfinals.

Luverne 4, RWV 3

The Cardinals earned a berth in the championship match by defeating RWV by one point in the semifinals.

The match wasn't as close as the final score might indicate.

After winning four matches in straight sets, the Cards defaulted at first and second doubles and at No. 4 singles to save energy for the ensuing championship match.

"We really played quite well against Redwood Valley. The four matches we won were never in doubt and went rather quickly," said LHS coach Greg Antoine.

Prevailing in singles for LHS were Erik Wohnoutka (6-0, 6-2 over Nathan Passe at No. 1), Jacob Jarchow (6-2, 6-1 over Logan Dehncke at No. 2) and Chris Jelken (6-0, 6-0 over Michael Davial at No. 3).

Trey Baustian and Isaac Gillette secured the fourth point for LHS by saddling John Lammers and Beau Nesburg with a pair of setbacks at third doubles.

Mark Robinson defaulted at fourth singles for LHS, as well as the first (Dalton Schoeneman and Layne Curtis) and second (Cade VerSteege and Tanner Baustian) doubles.

LHS 6, Montevideo 1

The Cardinals captured their section title by defeating the Thunder Hawks by five points.

LHS went 3-1 in singles and won all three doubles contests to highlight the win.

"It was a hard-fought battle," Antoine said.

"We battled and kept at it until we were successful in the end. The kids just did not want to be the ones to break the streak (of section titles)."

Wohnoutka prevailed 2-1 at first singles over Jared

Saue when Saue experienced cramping and couldn't complete the third set.

Saue won the first set by a 6-4 tally, while Wohnoutka secured a 6-3 win in the second set.

Jarchow (6-2, 6-7, 6-2 over Taylor Landmark) and Jelken (6-4, 6-3 over Riley Emery) won at second and third singles respectively, while Robinson came up on the short end of 6-2 and 7-5 decisions against Noah Stoeckman at No. 4.

Schoneman and Curtis (7-6, 6-3 over Brandon Johnson and Henry Strunc) and VerSteege and Tanner Baustian (6-3, 6-4 over Troy Diggins and Chris Erickson) won in straight sets at first and second doubles.

Trey Baustian and Gillette topped Kaden Marty and Tom Gee-Hoover in a three-set match (6-7, 6-3, 6-4) at No. 3.

Cards repeat as sub-section champs

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne girls registered a repeat performance during Thursday's South Sub-Section 3A Track and Field Championships in Luverne.

One year after winning the first edition of the expanded event, the Cardinals claimed a second consecutive title by outscoring all 13 teams in the field.

Luverne tallied 141 points, easily outscoring second-place Pipestone (104) and the rest of the field.

Even more importantly, 18 athletes earned the right to compete at Thursday's Section 3A event in Redwood Falls.

The top six finishers in every event at the sub-section level earn automatic berths in section competition.

A total of four at-large berths are up for grabs in every event, and they go to the athletes who produced the best efforts in both the North and South Sub-Section events without placing sixth or better.

Fourteen Cardinals qualified for the section meet automatically and four more advance after securing at-large entries.

Luverne captured eight meet championships during the sub-section attraction.

Morgan Edwards led the charge by winning the shot put and discus crowns with respective 36-8 and 112-7 efforts.

Other individual championships went to Jadynd Anderson (2:23.15 in the 800), Regan Feit (5:39.37 in the 1,600), Madison Schandelmeier (11:46.64 in the 3,200) and Courtney Siebenahler (34-6 in the triple jump).

Luverne also won the 1,600- and 3,200-meter relays with respective 4:15.91 and 9:55.25 times.

Schandelmeier, Gabrielle Ferrell, Autumn Nath and Anderson formed both winning relays.

Kami Sawtelle placed second individually for LHS with respective 35-1 and 102-3 tosses in the shot put and discus.

Siebenahler finished second in the long jump (15-9 1/2) and ran a leg with Luverne's 400-meter relay, which placed second with a time of 52.48.

Ivy Hudson, Tianna Doppenberg and Sierra Schmuck teamed up with Siebenahler in the 400.

Other LHS athletes automatically qualifying for section competition individually include Bergin Flom (8-0 in the pole vault to place fourth), Jaidyn Elbers (49.18 in the 300 hurdles to place fourth), Schmuck (27.69 in the 200 to place sixth) and Mackenzie Petersen (4-9 in the high jump to place sixth).

Wohnoutka, Jelken prevail twice as doubles team

By John Rittenhouse

A Luverne High School doubles team remains alive after the first two rounds of the Section 3AA Individual Tennis Tournament.

LHS senior Erik Wohnoutka and junior Chris Jelken won a pair of matches during Thursday's opening rounds in Redwood Falls.

The Cardinal squad completed the tournament in Redwood Falls Tuesday (May 31).

Jelken and Wohnoutka dominated MACCRAY's Robert Garza and Carter Tomes by saddling them with 6-0 setbacks in the first round.

The LHS team was equally commanding in the quarter-finals, where it rolled to 6-0 and 6-1 victories over Montevideo's Troy Diggins and Henry Strunc.

"Erik and Chris played really well in beating a young MACCRAY team and then convincingly beating a pretty good team from Montevideo," said LHS coach Greg Antoine.

"They really served well. In doubles, that sets up your partner to finish off weak returns.

They kept their opponents deep and off guard the whole day. They looked like a No. 1-seeded team should."

The balance of Luverne's representatives went 1-1 to bow out of the event.

Jacob Jarchow topped Redwood Valley's Sam Christenson by 6-3 and 6-0 tallies before falling 6-3, 6-4 to Montevideo's Noah Stoeckman.

Craig Nelson close to capping standout career

Back in 1984 Craig Nelson had to make a decision.

Shortly after signing a contract to become the counselor at Luverne High School for the 1984-85 school year, District 2184 officials presented Nelson with another proposition.

"They wanted to know if I was willing to be the coach of the girls' track or the golf program," Nelson recalled. "I had to think about that a little bit before making a decision. I liked golf and I liked track back then. Then I decided that I could play golf all summer so agreed to coach track."

Based on what has transpired since then, I believe Nelson made the right choice.

He has served as LHS girls' track coach for the past 32 years and assumed the role as the head boys' track coach in 1992 and has held that title for 25 years.

Nelson's lengthy reign will come to an end next week, when the 2016 season ends what surely will include another appearance for some LHS athletes at the Minnesota State Class A Track and Field Championships in St. Paul.

Nelson's tenure as the LHS track mentor will come to an end at the end of the state classic as he enters the retirement stage of his life.

Based on how the track program thrived under his leadership, it's safe to say Nelson will never be forgotten and soon will enter a couple of coaching Halls of Fame.

The numbers Nelson has compiled over the years support my stance on his status.

The Cardinal girls have won nine conference crowns, 19 sub-section titles, eight section championships (that number could rise to nine pending the outcome of Thursday's section meet in Redwood Falls) and 12 Section 3A True Team conquests over the past 32 years.

The LHS girls have won three state True Team titles and one Minnesota State High School league team championship during his tenure.

The Cardinal boys have found success under his tutelage as well.

The boys have won four conference championships, 12 sub-section titles, seven section True Team titles, four section 3A crowns and one MSHSL state championship.

A total of 14 LHS athletes have won state individual titles or claimed state championships as members of relay teams.

During his 32-year run as the girls' coach, only three years passed without at least one athlete qualifying for the MSHSL state meet.

LHS boys reached the MSHSL meet in 23 of the 25 years Nelson served as the head coach.

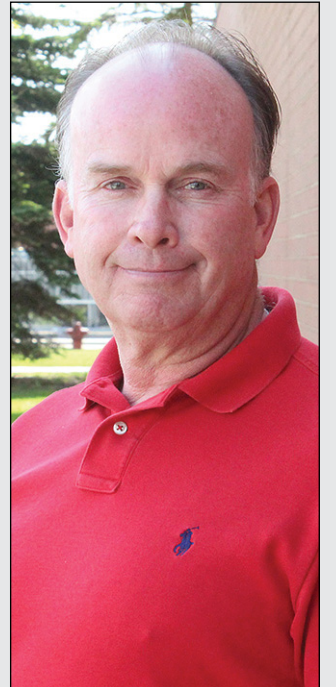

Those gaudy numbers speak for themselves, but Nelson chooses to share the credit for what LHS track program has accomplished.

"I'm just a part of a team," he states.

"I've had a lot of great assistant coaches over the years and they deserve a lot of credit because one person can't manage 100 athletes on a yearly basis on their own. Guys like Al Stoakes, Gordie Hansen, Pete Janiszkeski, Marcus Walgrave, Dave Duffy, Craig Schneider, Bob Osterday are some of the very finest assistant coaches around, and so was Natalie

FROM THE SIDELINES

By John Rittenhouse, sports editor

Craig Nelson

Willers, who worked with us for a couple of years. They are people who believed in the program, stayed with the program and were invested in the program. Without them, winning all the titles and collecting all the trophies wouldn't have been possible."

Under Nelson's coaching philosophy, the assistants were specialists.

They were assigned the responsibilities of working with the jumpers, sprinters, distance runners and throwers while the head coach worked with the pole-vaulters.

It was a successful strategy as LHS athletes have fared well in state competition in every event over the years.

"Every once in a while a great athlete comes along that doesn't need much coaching," Nelson said.

"Those great athletes don't come around that often, and we benefited from having great assistants who could coach up kids and help them become successful. I can't take credit for that. I just was happy to be a part of it over the years."

Now that his coaching days are numbered, Nelson realizes he will miss some of the things the job presented him with over the past three-plus decades.

Topping the list is contact he had with the athletes and the relationship he shared with his assistant coaches over the years.

"Being a coach is incredibly fun," he said.

"There is nothing like watching kids come into the program as seventh-graders and watch them grow and progress as athletes over the next six years. It's very fascinating to be a part of, and I was fortunate to see it every year for a long time."

Nelson's been around LHS track long enough to know how tough it is to host and run a quality meet, so don't expect not to see him at home events next year.

"I'm pretty sure I won't be giving up on going to Luverne track meets. I'll find a way to be around the sport and help the program any way I can," he said.

"Right now my No. 1 objective is disabling my alarm clock because I'm retired, but I will miss being a part of the track program. It's been a lot of fun and I wouldn't trade what I've gained from it for anything."

Luverne bows out of Section 3AA tourney

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne softball team bowed out of the Section 3AA Tournament during the opening round May 24 in Jackson.

The sixth-seeded Cardinals were tied with No. 3 Martin County West after four and one-half innings of play, but the Mavericks outscored LHS 8-3 the rest of the way to secure an 11-6 victory.

Luverne ends the season with a 5-13 record.

MCW took advantage of two throwing errors by LHS to open a 3-0 lead three innings into the contest.

After being limited to one hit in the first four innings of play, the Cards climbed back into contention with a three-run rally in the top of the fifth to knot the score.

Brianna Jonason and Natasha Thone slapped run-scoring singles and Zayna Hustoft recorded a sacrifice fly during the fifth.

MCW answered the challenge by scoring seven runs in the bottom of the fifth, which included grand slam and two-run home runs, to open a 10-3 cushion.

LHS received RBI singles from Makayla Huisman and Hustoft to highlight a three-run rally in the top of the sixth to make it a 10-6 game, but MCW plated the final run of the contest in the bottom of the sixth.

Panthers eliminate Dragons from postseason play

By John Rittenhouse

The 2016 softball season came to an end for the Adrian Area Dragons during the opening round of the Section 3A Tournament May 24 in Tracy.

The seventh-seeded Dragons put up a good fight against second-seeded Tracy-Milroy-Balaton, but it was the Panthers coming out on the winning end of a 10-5 decision. AA ends the year with a 4-12 mark.

The Dragons opened the scoring with a two-run rally in the top of the second inning and trailed 4-3 after scoring once in the fourth.

T-M-B, however, scored the next six runs to open a 10-3 cushion before AA capped the scoring with a two-run seventh inning.

Olivia Weidert drove in one run at the plate and led the Dragons with two hits.

Devin Dreesen (two RBIs), Madison Neuengerg (one RBI), Rebecca Sjogren (one RBI), Jodi Bents, Paige Bullerman and Halle Nolte slapped one hit each for AA.

Dreesen tossed all six innings and took the loss.

She fanned two batters, walked two and yielded 14 hits.

Buffalos unable to string together consecutive football victories

By John Rittenhouse

The Tri-State Buffalos were unable to string together consecutive victories when they played their fifth game of the season Saturday in Albert Lea.

One week after rolling to a 44-14 home win over Watertown, the Buffalos came up on the short end of a decisive outcome over Memorial Day weekend.

The home-standing Grizzlies dominated play during a 38-0 victory to up their record to 3-1.

Tri-State, which slips to 1-4 for the year, faces another big challenge in Week 6.

The Buffalos host the 5-0 Buffalo Ridge Wildcats, who handed Tri-State a 57-6 setback in Lake Benton May 7.

Live grace-filled lives

"For sin will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace." Romans 6:14 ESV

BUILT ON A ROCK

By Martha Fick, Good Samaritan, Mission Effectiveness

It was one of the hottest days of the summer. Ole looked out his living room window and saw Lars painting his house in the hot sun wearing two winter coats.

"Is he crazy, Lena? I am going to talk vit him."

Opening the front door, Ole shouted across the street, "Lars, you crazy old coot! What are you doing? It is 97 degrees out! Why are you painting your house wearing your vinter Sunday coat and your hunting jacket?"

"I haf to vear dem, Ole. Yah, sure, you betcha, dat is vhat de directions on de can says. Look at dis," he said, pointing to the label. "Put on two coats."

A lot of people believe that getting into heaven depends on doing things right and living a good life. They think they have to be good enough so God will like them.

Other people reject faith because they think there are too many rules and regulations.

While the Old Testament does tell of many laws, we, as beloved and forgiven children of God, no longer live under the condemnation of those laws. Jesus fulfilled the penalty of the law. Because of His great love, He sets us free when we confess our sins and come to Him for salvation. Through faith in Christ, we live under God's amazing grace.

John 3:17 tells us that Jesus didn't come into the world to condemn the world, but rather so that we can be saved. He wants to rescue us. As followers of Christ, we don't live under the law. We live under grace. To the believer, saved by grace, the commandments are no longer harsh rules that condemn us, but rather good instructions on how to live a grace-filled life.

Lord, You have given Your life for us. Teach us how to live for You. Release us from the power of sin and the condemnation of the law. Show us how to live grace-filled lives. In Jesus' name,
