

Land sale near Steen sets new county record at $19,000 per acre

By Lori Sorenson

Eighty acres of land near Steen sold for $19,000 per acre Thursday morning, topping Rock County's previous land sale record of $16,200 per acre in November 2012.

"It just blew me out of the water," said Tom Houselog of the Rock County Land Records Office. "The bidding started at $12,000 and went to $19,000 in a matter of a few minutes."

The successful bidder was Steen farmer Matt Boeve, who lives directly across the road (Highway 270) from the 80-acre parcel, which sold for a total of $1,520,000.

Houselogsaid the tract of land, all tillable ground, is among the best and most fertile in Rock County, but he was still surprised by the record sale, due to dropping commodity prices.

"With prices half of what they were at their highest, I didn't know how the market would react," Houselog said.

"It just blew me out of the water. The bidding started at $12,000 and went to $19,000 in a matter of a few minutes."

"But it's just one sale. ... It could have been $9,000 instead of $19,000 and would that mean the market is tanking? Again, it's just one sale, and it's hard to know what motivated the bidders."

He said one factor that drives up land auction prices is proximity to adjacent ground, especially if more than one bidder shares that interest. While Thursday's land sale is a record-breaker, Houselog said the implications for land values in the neighborhood will not be. "It's only one of several sales we'll be looking at for our 2017 assessments," Houselog said.

The highest-priced land so far in 2015 was 56 acres in Springwater Township that sold in April to the Hoogland Trust for $13,850 per acre.

The highest price in 2014 was $15,250 per acre in Kanaranzi Township, and in 2013 the high sale was $15,300 in Kanaranzi Township.

Until Thursday, the all-time record sale in Rock County was in Beaver Creek Township in 2012 when Eric Fick bought 80 acres for $16,200 per acre. The land had been in the Walter and Leora Hellwinckel family for 85 years.

Houselog said he often attends land auctions to get a feel for why and how land sells for the prices it gets. When asked about Thursday's auction by Steen, he said, "It was such an extreme sale, I didn't know what to take away from it."

City to blend L&C water with local well water

By Lori Sorenson

Luverne city officials are preparing for the arrival of water from Lewis and Clark Regional Water System in January.

The water will be piped from the Missouri River aquifer and will be blended with Luverne's current water supply. Luverne City Council members spent time at their Dec. 15 meeting learning what to expect.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were Red Arndt with Lewis and Clark, Al Lais with the city's water department and Verne Jacobsen of TKDA engineering.

'Colors of Death' book captures local author's fascination with horror

Luverne High School graduate Rona Vaselaar has authored a book, "Colors of Death, Fifteen Tales of Horror," released in October online and in bookstores.

In particular, customers with aquariums where living fish, animals or plants are kept will need to use de-chlorinator drops to remove chloramines. Tap water with only a slight amount of chloramine will kill fish in a short period of time, Jacobson said.

He said customers will also notice a slight change in taste during the time they become adjusted to the

Luverne grad returns home with Red Cross message of preparedness

Morgan Sommers returned to Luverne Friday morning armed with more than 80 white pillowcases.

Sommers, an LHS Class of 2011 graduate and local disaster program specialist with the American Red Cross, instructed fifth-graders at Luverne Elementary School about preparing for emergencies.

Being ready for emergencies is similar to learning a sport, Sommers said. "Learn, practice, share," she said.

The Red Cross has launched a nationwide cam-

Students learned that every eight minutes a house fire starts somewhere in the United States. Two minutes is all the time a person has to safely exit. Having a plan saves time and lives.

"I want you to go home and practice," Sommers said. "And don't keep it a secret."

Students received workbooks to draw safe routes out of their homes.

visions of supernatural horrors lurking in dark corners," the description states.

This book follows our impulses into the shadows of the mind and what lies beyond it, tracing through death and, sometimes, even further."

On Amazon.com, three out of three reviewers gave Vaselaar's book five out of five stars.

"If you enjoy suspenseful horror that has excellent character development and vivid imagery, Rona is the author for you," one reviewer wrote.

"I loved this book," wrote another. "Each story had it's own feel and identity; the twists were a surprise; and the writing was outstanding."

"Good luck sleeping again after reading this," wrote the third reviewer.

Vaselaar herself is an unlikely author of horror fiction. At age 21, she is a senior at the University of Notre Dame in Indiana studying Chinese.

She has studied abroad twice in China, in 2013 and 2015 and is considering a career in teaching English to people in China.

But Vaselaar keeps in touch with her creative English side by posting fiction stories on thoughtcatolog.com, a website that publishes submitted stories and ideas.

She's been paid for stories and podcasts (actors' voices portray her stories) - she's posted dozens on the site this year alone — and she was eventually approached about publishing some of them in a book.

Vaselaar said she's always had a fascination with horror, even at a young age. "Some people are drawn to science fiction. I just happen to be drawn to horror," she said.

"I like the feeling of being scared just as much as I like scaring

VanDerBrink retires from work connecting local generosity with local needs

By Lori Sorenson

"As one person, I cannot change the world, but I can change the world for one person."

Greta VanDerBrink said this quote by Paul Shane Spear captures the essence of her work matching volunteers with people who need help.

"This has been one of the hardest decisions I've ever made," said VanDerBrink, about her retirement Dec. 31. "It's all about the people; I'll miss them."

Shaffers named Light 'Em Up contest winner

By Glenda McGaffee

The first-place winner of the Light 'Em Up contest sponsored by the Hills Lions Club in Beaver Creek is Sterling Shaffer who lives at 402 East 1st Ave.

Shaffer, 76, describes himself as one of the elite seniors in the town of Beaver Creek. He has a passion for Christmas and decorates both the outside and inside of his house.

He and his wife, Lois, moved from Sioux Falls to Beaver Creek in 1975 after he accepted a position in the Hills Municipal Liquor Store.

Shaffer shared memories of his childhood in Milbank, South Dakota.

"I grew up in the Depression years, but we always had a big Christmas tree with electric lights," he said. "As I became older, my mom didn't want to decorate the tree, so I did it."

The Shaffers have two children, Julie and her husband, Wade Roos, who live in Prior Lake, and Richard and his wife, Karen, who live in Duluth. There are six grandchildren.

"At first this year I thought I would not put up decorations since we will be out of town visiting our children, but after some thought I decided to decorate," Shaffer said.

"I usually start a couple of weeks before Thanksgiving and first put up the Christmas tree in the house."

He said he has seven to choose from in his garage.

"Every year I put up a

Besides fire, Sommers offered the students tips to play safely outside in cold weather, stay calm in emergencies and to organize their own emergency preparedness kit using a pillowcase.

Called The Pillowcase Project, it was developed for students in grades 3-5 and is patterned after the New Orleans Red Cross chapter's experience with Hurricane Katrina in 2005.

ordinators have asked her advice on how to bring their successes in line with Rock County's.

"It's all about the personal connections," VanDer-Brink said. "But it helps that our roots here go so deep; so many people know your grandpa and grandma ... your heritage is here."

As such, VanDerBrink said, this has made her job easier to connect with people who know people who are able to help people who know people who need help.

The positive outcomes are moments VanDerBrink lives for. "They don't realize how much joy I've gotten out of it," she said about her accolades.

"We're serving others, and for me, this work has been a mission - serving God by serving others."

She points to Jesus' sermon in which he said, "Do unto these the least of my children, and you do unto me." (Matthew 5 in the Bible)

"Just today, we got the toys delivered for the Angel Tree requests," VanDerBrink said. "It's just so fun to know we're making someone's Christmas brighter."

VanDerBrink took over as RSVP coordinator after Ruth Pickett retired from her 25-year position.

Today the office is known as ACE — Advocate, Connect, Educate, but the job description hasn't changed from the day Pickett started in 1976 -"to match willing volunteers with local organizations that needed volunteers."

Pickett had said she was happy to leave before she had to learn computers, but VanDerBrink said electronic messaging has been helpful in summoning large groups of volunteers in a short amount of time.

Still, the personal connections are necessary to seal the deal. "I can put out an APB, but lots of times I'll end up calling people who say, 'Yeah I saw that and I was thinking about helping ..."

Volunteer Judy Ripley credits VanDerBrink for her own active lifestyle, despite having multiple sclerosis. "If you're not moving you start to feel sorry for yourself," said

"They don't realize how much joy I've gotten out of it ... We're serving others, and for me, this work has been a mission serving God by serving others."

Greta VanDerBrink, ACE volunteer coordinator told VanDerBrink she'd have to give up her volunteer job greeting elementary students in the morning at breakfast.

Instead of accepting Ripley's resignation, VanDer-Brink suggested the Heartland Express bus service that delivers riders from door to door. And the ACE office has a fund for bus tickets to transport volunteers.

"People don't refuse her; she's just too good," Ripley said about VanDerBrink.

"And I so enjoy the kids. It's such a treat for me to go there and get my 'kid fix."

When VanDerBrink started in 2001, she had just wrapped up a 21-year career at Mary Jane Brown Good Samaritan Center where she worked in the activities department.

"I guess I've worked with old people all my life - and now I'm one of them," she laughed.

"You learn through the it's incredible. Life is short; you learn to celebrate life while you can."

She said that's also been her motto since her son, Mike, died from cancer 10 years ago. "He taught us how to live, and he taught us how to die," she said. "He told me he wasn't afraid of dying, because a brand new body was waiting for him in heaven."

Greta said she looks forward to retirement (her

When asked if her work could be compared with that of author Stephen King, Vaselaar humbly said she couldn't hope to compare her style on that creative level.

A Christmas Letter From our house to yours

Dear Friends, It's been a busy and blessed year at the Juhl-Winter household.

In January our sweet Kate left for an 11-month stint on the mission fields of Thailand.

In February Brenda traveled to the Twin Cities with college friends to attend a John Cougar Mellencamp concert. For three hours the four women were 19 again (even though their combined age is 208.)

In March we traveled to California to attend an alternative health conference as we continue to seek non-traditional means of engaging Brenda's cancer.

In April our daughter Emilia and her husband, Adam, moved from Charleston, South Carolina, to Norfolk, Nebraska. We are so excited to have them just three hours away. We learned they are expecting in August.

In May Brenda completed her fourth year as the teaching leader for the Sioux Falls Evening Women's Bible Study Fellowship. Jim completed his seventh year as the assistant teaching leader for the Sioux Falls men's class.

In June we became grandparents for the first time with the arrival of Tenley Louise.

In July we were blessed again when Evelyn Ann arrived a month early.

In August we spent three weeks at a cancer clinic in Mexico. The various things we've done to engage cancer with nontraditional means are slowing the tumor's growth, but not shrinking it. The clinic was wonderful. We met people from all over the world and made new life-long friends.

Our son, Joe, and his wife, Jennifer, moved to Tea, South Dakota, where Joe works for a disaster cleanup company. We October and November are a blur.

In December Kate returned with stories of adventure from Thailand and we returned to Mexico for a checkup.

The news wasn't good. The tumor continues to grow. And so, we find ourselves again standing at the crossroads of cancer treatments. What to embrace? What to avoid?

As new holiday gifts are received, remember to properly dispose of the old stuff

As we marvel at the new and shinyChristmas gifts we anxiously waited to unwrap, please take a moment and think about what to do with the old stuff.

We live in a disposable age where unwanted and broken items are thrown away. In fact, more and more of today's items are designed with discarding in mind when broken. The price of these items is lower than their fixable predecessors, making the practice affordable. With the money saved, however, purchasers should easily afford the proper disposal.

For the most part, Rock County residents have been good at recycling plastic, paper, glass, cardboard and tin or aluminum cans. About 800 tons of recyclable materials are collected from our county on a yearly basis, a practice that has been going on for decades.

Newer to the recycling realm is clothing.

Since July 2011 50,404 pounds, or more than 25 tons, of unwanted clothes or other wearable materials have been dropped off at one of four USAgain locations in Luverne.

Recycling of clothing is a free service. The items are simply placed in the white and green metal boxes. Regularly these boxes are emptied and the clothes are taken to a central location where items are sorted for resale, reuse or recycled.

Combined, these two recycling avenues prevent more than 825 tons of stuff from being dumped into the landfill, helping our communities stay healthier places to live.

Now with the new Christmas items in the hands of residents, will we do the right thing and dispose of old items properly? Or will we throw

Please do better than the resident who left a couch, television stand, box springs and mattress at USAgain recycling boxes at the corner of Main Street and Highway 75. Written in bold lettering are the words "Clothing & Shoes" on those metal containers.

Misuse of these containers could result in their removal, eliminating a recycling avenue for all of us.

The containers' removal could result in more materials hitting the landfill, filling it to capacity at a faster rate. It costs tens of thousands of dollars to construct and properly line a municipal landfill. Let's keep the ones we have as long as possible.

Please, residents, take the time and effort to repurpose items. A neighbor, friend or an organization may be able to reuse items.

Paper Christmas lists withstand the test of time, technology

Christmas 2015 is tomorrow, and while everything around us seems to be changing, at least the Christmas story remains the same. I noticed at least one other thing that hasn't changed. It seems the Christmas shopping list has stood the test of time and modern technology.

With the advent of the cellphone and all things computer, I was happy to notice shoppers pulling out their paper Christmas lists and checking it twice.

Oh, they weren't checking it to see who's been naughty or nice. They were checking to see what they had bought and what they had left to buy.

The time-honored Christmas shopping list comes in many forms and colors but so far not electronically.

Good old-fashioned paper is the foundation of a real Christmas shopping list.

The paper can be any size or shape but the81/2-by-11-inch standard-sized paper works best because you can fold and unfold it over and over again and it can withstand the harshest of holiday shoppers.

The pen works best when composing the Christmas shopping list.

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH

By Rick Peterson, General Manager Tollefson Publishing

With the pen if you change your mind about something on the list, you simply scribble it out; if you buy something on the list, you check it off.

It was truly refreshing during this Christmas shopping season to see people sitting at a table in a restaurant mulling over their list and talking to the other people at the table about what they had left on their list. The shoppers would compare notes and plan the rest of their shopping day by what was left on the list.

I am not really sure why the Christmas shopping list has been spared the same fate of many other things, but I am glad it has.

On the subject of a list at Christmastime, I can't help but think of my mom's Christmas card list.

Her Christmas card list (or book) really had grown over the years. It was torn and tattered but still served its purpose. Once you were on her list, you were never unfriended.

Mom died a year ago this week. She had mailed her Christmas cards out weeks before her passing, so this will be the first year that there will be no Christmas card from mom.

Yep, never thought I would say it, but I am tearing up a bit because I miss that card. Merry Christmas.

Palace committee thanks community

To the Editor:

Christmas At The Palace Committee would like to take this moment to thank the community for its support over the years by attending Christmas At the Palace. We sincerely appreciate all the participants over the years, and we want to recognize Terri Ebert for being the emcee for the past several years and Arlin Sandbulte for so graciously doing sound each year for us.

It has been our pleasure and total enjoyment putting this show together for the community but as time passes things change and it is time for us to say goodbye.

Wishing all of you a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Magnolia has 'Little Free Library'

Magnolia area residents will now have access to 24hour library materials in their hometown, thanks to the Southwest Area Multicounty Multitype Interlibrary Exchange (SAMMIE).

A Little Free Library has been set up in front of the post office in Magnolia to allow people to take books and return them when done.

The small outside structure has books that are donated by users under the motto, "Take a book, return a book," which is what the little libraries provide: free reading materials.

SAMMIE, an organization devoted to the promotion of libraries and reading, decided to devote funds to be used to establish a Little Free Library in a town or area that did not have a local library.

Meredith Vaselaar, librarian at the Adrian Branch Library, is on the SAMMIE council and volunteered to look for a possible site for a Little Free Library in the Plum Creek System.

"I wanted a place that was easily accessible to the public, but would be secure," Vaselaar said. "I also wanted a place in which the local residents were willing to work with SAMMIE to ensure its success."

After checking with a few towns in the area, Vaselaar decided to see if the town of Magnolia was interested in having a Little Free Library.

She learned that Magnolia had its own free book donation library housed inside the post office and that it was already popular with the residents of Magnolia.

The only downside was that they could be accessed only during the few open hours daily at the post office.

Part of the Little Free Library movement is that books are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, so the Magnolia City Council recognized the opportunity to increase the availability of reading resources to its citizens.

The City Council approved the installation of a Little Free Library, and on Oct. 29 the donated structure (built by Vaselaar's husband, Eric) was placed at the Post Office. If the enterprise is successful, SAMMIE will provide full funding for a more durable, permanent Little Free Library in Magnolia.

Attendance at annual Children's Fair almost doubles

By Mavis Fodness

More than 130 children and adults attended the Rock County Children's Fair Thursday at the Luverne Elementary School commons.

"It was the first time at a new date," said Karen Willers with the Rock County Early Childhood Initiative, which sponsored the event.

The event is designed to let families with young children know all the services and agencies that are available to them in Rock County.

It's typically offered in September, but moving the interactive activities and information sessions to a later date almost doubled attendance numbers.

New State Farm agent starts Jan. 1

The State Farm agent that serviced the Luverne office for the past 30 years, Pat Foerster, retired in June, and a new agent will start in January.

David Vetch, formerly of Rapid City, South Dakota, will move to Luverne to fill the position as State Farm's new local agent.

Vetch will be accompanied by his wife, Sara, and their four children (three of whom are in college and one still in high school).

Existing State Farm team members Renee Sudenga and Morgan Hawkins remain in the Luverne office in their current positions.

"I'm excited to offer my services to the Luverne community," Vetch said. "And I believe I will be a good fit as I was raised on a small farm in Aberdeen, South Dakota."

He has been with State Farm for over 21 years and has held multiple positions within the organization.

Vetch is licensed in property and casualty insurance, as well as life and health insurance and said he looks forward to helping service all local needs.

The State Farm office hours in Luverne are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and evening and Saturday morning appointments as needed.

The office location is at 122 E. Main St. in downtown Luverne, and the staff can be reached via phone at (507) 283-4401.

$oldsymbol{R}$ emember as we celebrate this Christmas...

Having a joyous, happy Christmas isn't always possible. With the death of a loved one, holidays are particularly stressful. The social role of the loved one will need to be filled by someone else or altered significantly because that person will no longer be sharing in the holiday experiences with family and friends. For families dealing with such a loss, there will be difficult days coping with their feelings about the holiday season. Such families may fear the pain of the actual holiday, they may wish to avoid the whole season, they may feel pressure wondering what their friends expect of them and what traditions they should now follow or change.

Big Buddies of Rock County honors 2015 mentor

Pierce named 2015 Big Buddy of the Year

By Mavis Fodness

Steen's Marilyn Van Wyhe used three simple words to describe her granddaughter Ella's feelings toward her Big Buddy Stephanie Pierce. "She loves her."

In addition to the feelings from the Luverne Elementary fourth-grader, those within the Big Buddies of Rock County Program think so too and recently named Pierce the program's 2015 Big Buddy of the Year.

For the past seven years, Pierce has volunteered her time as a one-on-one mentor to a school-aged child fifth grade or younger. Pierce and Ella Van Wyhe have been paired since 2012.

"She is very good with her and very in tune with what Ella likes," her grandmother Marilyn added. "Ella is a 'girly girl."

Pierce has plenty of experience with young girls.

She and her husband, Travis, have three daughters, Paige Paquette, 23, Abby, 21, and Samantha, 16. Paquette is also a Big Buddy and Abby plans to be involved as a Big Buddy soon.

"It is like my whole family is part of the Big Buddy program," Pierce said.

Each of her family members has joined in some of the activities completed beyond the regularly scheduled Big Buddy/Little Buddy events.

Those activities include art projects, baking, attending sporting events, watching movies, doing homework and playing outside.

"Last year we made her dad (Justin Van Wyhe) a tie blanket for Christmas," Pierce said.

In addition to the activities she does with her Little Buddy, Pierce is program director for Sanford's chemical dependency department in Luverne, and she coordinates the every-othermonth activities for the Rock Youth program. Rock Youth, which targets middle school students, began in 2013.

"Travis is just as much involved in this group as I am," Pierce said.

Rock Youth is an extension of the Big Buddies program involving group activities such as gym nights, girls' night, guys' night and dance.

There is no one-on-one mentoring; instead, adults serve as role models during the activities that include educational presentations. Presentation topics include respect, bullying and selfesteem.

Pierce said her involvement in Big Buddies began seven years ago because she enjoys spending time with young people.

"I love kids," said the LHS Class of 1987 graduate.

About Big Buddies

Big Buddies of Rock County promotes positive family and community values by mentoring children oneon-one.

It is hoped the connection enhances a child's quality of life, character development and education. It is open to all kindergarten through fifth-grade students in Rock County.

Mentors and their children generally spend one to two hours together weekly.

Anyone who is interested in becoming a Big Buddy or who knows a child that could benefit from a mentor can call 507-283-9165.

new blended water supply.

Chloramines are used in many public water supplies and pose no health risks, but Luverne city officials have mailed an informational letter to residents to answer questions they might have.

In addition to the precautions for home aquariums, the letter will advise dialysis patients not to use city water for dialysis treatments without special filters to remove chloramines.

The letter tells residents, "Water treated with chloramines is safe for drinking, bathing and other household uses," and it includes a list of frequently asked questions, which are also posted on the city's website, cityofluverne. org.

Chloramines last longer than chlorine and are necessary to accommodate the distance traveled and the time water spends in the pipeline. (Dependingon demand, water can travel for weeks from the treatment plant in Vermillion before it reaches Luverne faucets.)

Unlike chlorine, which will dissipate after water sits for a few days, chloramines may take weeks to disappear.

In addition to noticing a different taste, residents may also notice their water will be softer after mixing with the new water supply.

In order to provide Luverne water users with consistent water quality, city staff will try to utilize 80 percent of the Lewis and Clark water and blend with 20 percent of city treated water.

Lewis and Clark Water is expected to arrive in Luverne early in January. A second letter will be sent at that time.

A LIFE-SAVING GIFT

Luverne couple participate in unique organ-matching program

By Mavis Fodness

As Greg and Patti Aubert celebrate Christmas, the Luverne couple hopes to meet the individual who gave a special gift to Greg almost seven weeks ago.

On Nov. 3 Greg received a kidney from a living donor while on the same day Patti donated one. The transplant, however, wasn't between the two of them.

The Auberts were the first paired-match kidney donations between Sanford Hospital in Sioux Falls and Mayo Clinic in Rochester. It was also the 116th kidney transplant conducted at Sanford.

The living donor program allows a better match between patients and recipients. The anonymous process begins with a family or friend willing to donate a healthy kidney.

Without hesitation Patti knew she would donate a kidney for her husband of 25 years to receive a better match.

"Quality of life is so much better," said Patti. "And it isn't really going to change my quality of life."

The live donor procedure was the best option for Greg, who suffers from polycystic kidney disease.

PKD is an inherited disorder in which clusters of fluid-filled cysts develop around the kidneys. It is a painful disease that has no treatment or cure, and dialysis or transplants are last-resort treatments.

"If you have it, you can develop cysts at any time," Patti said. "They tend to come in the fourth and fifth decades of life." For Greg, who turned 50 this year, PKD was first diagnosed in 2008, after he suffered his second pulmonary embolism.

Since then his kidney functions have gradually declined, prompting the search for a transplant while there was still some function.

He said his dad died as a result of PKD in the mid 1980s after going through kidney dialysis, a treatment that was both physically and emotionally tough on his dad and for Greg and his family to experience.

The Auberts expected to wait a year before seeking other medical options.

"What was fortunate for me, I avoided (dialysis)," Greg said.

On the afternoon of Nov. 3, Greg received his new right kidney in Sioux Falls. It came from Rochester's Mayo Clinic.

That morning Patti's left kidney was also removed in Sioux Falls and transported to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester.

"We don't really know a whole lot, but it was a really good match for him," Patti said.

"Comparable to a sibling donating," added Greg.

One thing known about Greg's new kidney is that it came from a female, possibly similar in body build to Greg.

They don't know if the other donor and recipient are a husband-wife, brother-sister or just friends. "I think it would be interesting to know them — know their story," Patti said.

Medical staff is still coordinating the meeting.

The Auberts suspect the medical situations may have been more dire for the two near Rochester.

Original plans had the kidney swap scheduled for Oct. 20, a little over a month after the Auberts were added to the national exchange list. "It was almost too quick," Greg said.

The Auberts asked for a two-week delay to prepare and to allow Greg to attend the University of Minnesota Golden Gophers football game on Oct. 31.

Ironically Luverne native Kelsey Petersen attended the same game. Petersen was a nurse to both Greg and Patti as they recovered from surgery in Sioux Falls.

It was the kidneys that made the four-hour trip to the hospitals and not the patients.

"People do better by following up with their own transplant team," Patti explained.

The Auberts were also able to recover together in their Luverne home with the help of family members including their sons, Zane and Wyatt.

Since the surgeries, Patti has returned to work as a pharmacist at Sanford in Sioux Falls. Greg is cleared to return to his work as plant manager of Gold'n Plump in Luverne on Jan. 4.

The transplant team and support personnel signed the pillow. Signers include 2006 LHS graduate Kelsey Petersen, whose grandparents are neighbors to the Auberts.

The holidays are a happy time of year, but for those who abuse alcohol — and for the loved ones of those who do it can be a difficult time of year.

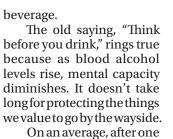

The National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) define binge drinking as a pattern of drinking that brings blood alcohol concentration (BAC) levels to 0.08, the legal limit for driving.

This typically occurs after four drinks for women and five drinks for men within two hours

According to the NIAAA, "moderate" drinking is considered up to one drink per day for women and up to two drinks per day for men.

To understand these guidelines, it is important to know just how a drink is defined. Percentages of pure alcohol in drinks vary by type of alcohol and their individual sizes. Health organizations collect data throughout the years and health standards are set.

DNR issues thin ice warning

With daytime temperatures still climbing above freezingeveninthenorthern parts of the state, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is reminding outdoor enthusiasts to stay clear of early ice and use extreme caution when recreating on dangerously cold water.

Although some locations in the northern and western regions of the state were reporting ice formation at the end of November, the recent fluctuations in weather have led to degraded ice conditions and warnings from public safety officials to stay off the ice until at least 4 inches of new, clear ice is present.

"No fish is worth the risk of going through thin ice," said DNR conservation officer Lt. Adam Block.

"At this point, it is going to take several consecutive days of below-freezing temperaturesbeforeenough solid ice has formed to support foot traffic, and even longer before snowmobilers should be on the ice."

New law aims to reduce number of people driving without insurance

Minnesotans who are registering, renewing license tabs or transferring ownership of motor vehicles and motorcycles will need to provide insurance information under a law change that takes effect on Jan. 1.

The Minnesota Legislature changed the state law last session to require insurance information for vehicle registration. Prior to the change, the law required owners to attest that the motor vehicle or motorcycle was covered by an insurance policy during the registration process; the specific policy information was not required.

Under the new law, every owner, when applying for motorvehicle or motorcycle registration, renewing their tabs, or transferring ownership, must provide information showing that the motor vehicle or motorcycle is covered by an insurance policy. Owners will need to provide the following information:

•name of insurance company policy number •expiration date of the policy The Department of Public Safety Driver and Vehicle Services division (DPS-DVS) is notifying vehicle owners of the new requirement on all 2016 renewal notices, some of which are being mailed this month.

Customers will be prompted to provide the information when applying online, in person and by mail. If a customer fails to provide the information by mail, DVS will contact the customer and require the information to be returned within 30 days.

Why the change?

Minnesota lawmakers changed the law at the recommendation of the Motor Vehicle Insurance Task Force to reduce the number of people driving without insurance. The 2014 Minnesota Legislature established the task force, which deliberated for seven months before submitting a report to the 2015 Minnesota Legislature on Feb.1.

Minnesota law requires drivers to possess proof of insurance at all times and maintain insurance when a vehicle is operated or when its use is contemplated. According to the task force report, an estimated 10.8 percent of Minnesotans drive without insurance.

On average, 320 people are arrested for DWI and 600 crashes result in at least two deaths and six life-changing injuries.

Nearly half of the fatalitieswill be drunk driving related, and about one in four serious injuries will be alcoholrelated.

Don't let drunk driving ruin your holiday cheer

In the last five years (2010 through 2014), the Christmas reporting period resulted in 1,590 DWIs, 13 deaths, six of which were drunk-driving related and 33 life-changing injuries, eight of which were alcohol-related.

DNR question of the week: white Christmas

Question: Historically speaking, how often do we have a white Christmas in Minnesota?

Answer: Havinga white Christmas is generally defined as having one inch of snow on the ground on Christmas Day.

In the Twin Cities, this happens about 72 percent of the time.

In northern Minnesota, the chance of a white Christmas is 90 percent or greater.

In the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness and the Lake Superior Highlands, a white Christmas is almost guaranteed.

The chances decrease to the south and west, down to around 60 percent in far southwestern Minnesota.

For more details on the subject, including the probabilities of various snow depths in select cities, visit www.mndnr.gov/climate/ summaries_and_publications/white_christmas.html.

Cards withstand late challenge from Patriots Monday in Hills

By John Rittenhouse

TheLuverneboys' basketball team survived a late challenge by Hills-Beaver Creek to win the annual rivalry game between the two Rock County teams Monday in Hills.

Luverneled by as many as 18 points during the game's first half and sported a 16-point advantage at the intermission.

H-BC battled back to trim the difference to two points with 4:35 remaining in the second half, but the Cardinals countered with a 15-5 run to secure a 63-51 victory.

Both teams sported leads in the game's first six minutes. LHS trailed 11-10 before reeling off five consecutive points to open a 15-11 lead when Erik Wohnoutka canned a pair of charity shots at the 11:12 mark.

Following a field goal by H-BC to make it a 15-13 game, Luverne went on a 17-1 run ending with Layne Curtis sinking one free throw at the 4:58 mark to give the Cardinals a 32-14 cushion.

The Patriots countered with a 7-0 spurt capped by a free throw from Dylan Forshey to trim the difference to 13 points (34-21) with 1:13 remaining in the stanza.

Luverne, however, increased its lead to 16 points (37-21) when Nick Overgaard capped the scoring in the first half with a three-point shot with six seconds left.

H-BC scored the first four points of the second half as a part of a 7-2 surge ending with a three-point shot from Zach Scholten to make it an 11-point (39-28) game.

Wohnoutka canned a three for Luverne to make it a 44-32 game with 12:13 remaining, but the Patriots dominated play over the next eight minutes.

H-BC went on a 14-4 run to trim the difference to two points (48-46) when Scholten buried one charity shot with 4:35 left to play.

Luverne answered the challenge by reeling off eight consecutive points to open a 56-46 cushion when Cole Bosch canned a three at the 2:16 mark.

LHS led by 13 (61-38) when Quinton Siebenahler sank one free throw with 39 seconds left before winning by 12 points at game's end.

Overgaard (20 points and eight rebounds), Wohnoutka (12 points, five assists and three steals) and Mitchell Muller (11 points and three steals) paced LHS offensively.

Cards rally to post first BSC victory

By John Rittenhouse

A second-half rally by the Luverne boys' basketball team gave the Cardinals their first Big South Conference win of the season Dec. 15.

Entertaining rival Pipestone, the Cardinals found themselves facing a 33-27 deficit at the intermission.

Luverne, however, outscored the Arrows 48-36 in the second half to secure a 75-69 victory and up their BSC record to 1-2.

The Cardinals closed to within one point (36-35) early in the second half when Quinton Siebenahler sank one free throw at the 12:16 mark, but the Arrows scored the next five points to extend their lead to six points (41-35).

Luverne fought back to knot the score at 41 when Nick Overgaard sank two free throws at 10:03 and he gave the Cards their first lead of the second half (46-45) when he drained two more charity shots at 7:13.

LHS still led by one (53-52) when Overgaard capped a 4-1 spurt to up the lead to 57-53 before the Arrows scored four consecutive points to tie the score at 58 with 3:05 remaining. The Cardinals moved in front to stay with a 13-3 run that started and ended with Cole Bosch draining threepoint shots at the 2:38 and 1:02 marks to give the hosts a 71-61 cushion.

Pipestone outscored LHS 8-4 the rest of the night, but it wasn't enough to challenge the Cardinals.

Luverne sported a series of two-point edges early in the game's first half before the Arrows went on a 10-0 run to open a 25-17 lead with 5:10 remaining.

The Arrows extended their lead to nine points (27-18) before LHS went on a 9-4 run ending with Overgaard sinking one free throw with 20 seconds left to make it a 31-27 game.

Pipestone scored the final two points of the half to lead by six at the break.

Siebenahler (26 points and 15 rebounds), Overgaard (23 points and seven rebounds) and Erik Wohnoutka (10 points, seven assists and seven steals) led the Cards to victory.

Nielsen, Olson win weight classes in Spencer

By John Rittenhouse

The Luverne Cardinal wrestling team turned in a strong showing at Spencer Invitational Tournament Saturday in Spencer, Iowa.

Competing in a field of 13 teams, LHS athletes registered 124.7 points to place fifth in the final standings.

Sergeant Bluff-Luton claimed the team title with 205 points.

Along with a solid team effort, two Cardinals won individual titles and two more LHS entries placed second in their weight classes.

and 195 respectively.

Nielsen won by technical fall over LeMars' Myle Kass before posting 15-3 and 11-1 wins over Boyden-Hull-Rock Valley's Brandon Rau and West Lyon's Noah Heathcott.

Nielsen edged Sibley-Ocheyedan's Garrett Slayer 8-7 in the finals.

Olson pinned B-H-RB's Austin Mohring (2:26) and Central Lyon-George-Little Rock's Austin Winkel (3:12) to reach the finals, where he posted a 4-1 win over Humboldt's Trayton Harris.

Tucker Oeltjenbruns and Will Natte placed second at 113 and 132.

Oeltjenbruns topped WL's Justin Severson 7-4 and SB-L's Ethan Kempema 5-3 in overtime to reach the finals, where he came up on the short end of a 10-4 decision against Spirit-Lake Park's Nate Cornwall.

Natte secured a 3-1 win over Humboldt's Joe Busse and pinned S-LP's Gavin Kramer in 2:20 to advance to the championship match, where he was pinned by B-H-RV's Austin Rozeboom in 2:57.

Jake Haugen placed third at 145 with a 4-1 record, while Jeremiah Dooyema and Zach Luke placed fifth at 152 and 182 with respective 3-2 and 2-2 records, while Hunter Baker went 2-3 and placed sixth at 106.

Brandon Claussen went 1-2 without placing at 170, while Riley Baker (0-2) and Jed Dooyema (1-2) competed without placing at 126 and 138.

Unfortunately, the tournament ended in tragic fashion for everyone involved.

Spencer senior Austin Roberts, a state-place winner in Iowa last year, collapsed on the mat following the 220-pound championship match.

Early injury changes everything for LHS

Premade plans can change in an instant when one is the head coach of an athletic team. Just ask T.J. Newgard, the head coach of the Luverne girls' basketball program.

The LHS mentor had big plans for sophomore guard Joci Oye this season, and he spent a good share of the summer workouts and preseason practice sessions grooming the prospect to be the team's point guard.

All of the preparation put into the project blew up Dec. 7 when Oye suffered a severe knee injury (torn ACL) that will not only keep her off the court the rest of the winter, it will keep her from participating in track next spring.

"What happened to Joci is a worst-case scenario for a coach." Newgard said.

"To see a kid who worked her butt off in the offseason get hurt in the second game of the year makes you sick to your stomach. She came to every one of our optional workouts in the summer and worked hard in the weight room every day. When something like that happens to a kid like Joci, it just doesn't seem to be fair."

As an observer of the team, I'm pretty sure Oye will be missed.

In my mind, she is the top ball-handler on the team and had the ability to knock down the threepoint shot.

Having Oye run the point enabled senior Morgan Haugen, the team's top offensive threat, from expending a lot of energy handling the ball when opposing teams apply full-court pressure.

Not only that, Oye's ability to hit the threepoint shot forced opponents to rethink playing zone defense against LHS.

According to Newgard, Oye gave the Cards more than a ball-handler who could shoot the rock.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By John Rittenhouse, sports editor in the right offenses to acclimate to the different situations we'll be facing," he said.

Now that Oye is on the shelf for the season, roles will change for many of the Cardinal players.

Having played as a point guard in the past, Haugen will take over the position once again.

Sophomore Sierra Schmuck, who started the season as a reserve, has been thrown into the starting lineup, and she will be asked to give the Cardinals more scoring punch than was expected of her.

LHS fans also can expect to see more of sophomore guard Hannah VerSteeg on the court than was previously planned.

Players do need to take breaks and teams do get into foul trouble during games, so someone like VerSteeg, who has little varsity experience, will play an expanded role for LHS.

"It's not just one or two players. Everyone will have to do a little more than expected to fill in for Joci," Newgard said.

"Joci got hurt during a Monday night game and you could tell everything was different in practice the next day. It was like we were starting the whole season over again with only two practices before playing our first game."

Things didn't go so well for LHS when the Cards took on Southwest Christian three nights after Oye's injury, but they played much better against H-BC Dec. 14.

That leads me to believe the Cardinal players are ready to face challenges of the season without their fallen comrade. I wish nothing but the best for Joci and hope she experiences a speedy recovery.

H-BC prevails by 22 points in Ellsworth

By John Rittenhouse

The Hills-Beaver Creek girls' basketball team raised its Red Rock Conference record to 2-1 with a convincing win in Ellsworth Thursday.

The visiting Patriots outscored the Panthers in both halves of the game to secure a 72-50 victory.

Ellsworth netted the first two points of the contest and the score was knotted at two early in the game, but the rest of the first half belonged to H-BC.

The Patriots registered 10 consecutive points as a part of an 18-point run ending with Mekayla Kolbrek draining a pair of charity shots at the 8:56 mark to give H-BC a 22-6 cushion.

H-BCextended the lead to 19 points (27-8) when Kourtney Rozeboom converted a field goal at 6:21, but the Panthers countered with a 10-2 run ending with a pair of free throws from Megan Popkes to make it a 29-18 game with 2:46 left in the half.

The Patriots ended the half with a 12-4 surge capped by a three-point shot from Jasmine Lingen to give them a 41-22 advantage at the intermission.

H-BC scored the first nine points of the second half and led by 29 (51-22) when Avery Van Roekel converted a threepoint play 3:22 into the stanza.

The Patriots led by 30 (57-27) when Lingen registered a field goal at 12:15, but that proved to be as big a lead H-BC would sport in the contest.

EHS trimmed the difference to 19 points (68-49) with less than two minutes remaining before falling by 22 points at game's end.

Rozeboom (18 points and five rebounds), Van Roekel (14 points and six rebounds), Sidney Fick (13 points and 10 rebounds) and Grace Bundesen (10 points) played key roles in the win.

Lingenaddedninerebounds and three assists to the cause, while Paige Tilstra chipped in five assists and four steals.

Adrian girls host holiday tournament

By John Rittenhouse

The Adrian girls' basketball team dropped a pair of games during the Adrian Holiday tournament over the weekend.

Tracy-Milroy-Balaton topped the Dragons by 10 pointsduringFriday'sopening round. Wabasso handed AHS a 14-point setback in Saturday's third-place game. Adrian sported a 1-5 record at event's end.

Wabasso 48, AHS 34

The Dragons couldn't overcome an early run by the Rabbits during Saturday's third-place game in Adrian.

After taking a one-point edge early in the game, the Dragons watched Wabasso go on a 20-2 run to open a commanding 18-point lead.

AHS did fight back to make things interesting, but it wasn't enough to keep the Rabbits from securing a 14-point victory.

Adrian's Jodi Bents canned a three-point shot 1:40 into the contest to give the Dragons a 3-2 edge.

Wabasso scored the next 10 points as part of a 20-1 surge that left the Rabbits sporting a 22-4 lead with 5:54 remaining in the first half.

Adrian responded by going on a 12-0 run ending with a field goal from Rebecca Sjogren to make it 22-16 with 3:04 remaining in the first half.

Wabasso, however, outscored the Dragons 10-4 the rest of stanza to lead 32-20 at intermission.

AHS trimmed the difference to 10 points at three occasions and trailed by eight when Paige Bullerman converted a field goal at the 12:29 mark of the second half to make it a 38-32 game.

H-BC boys withstand late challenge in Fulda

The Hills-Beaver Creek boys picked up their second Red Rock Conference basketball victory of the season when they nipped Fulda 52-50 in Fulda.

After sporting a 31-22 lead in the first half, H-BC was outscored 28-21 in the second half and prevailed by two points when the Raiders missed a potential game-winning three-point shot in the final seconds. Zach Scholten (17 points and seven rebounds), Stuart Plimpton (11 points and five rebounds), Isaiah Vis (eight assists and three steals) and Jed Burgers (five rebounds) led H-BC to victory.

Remember real reason for Christmas season

When it comes to the days leading up to Christmas Eve, I'm pretty much of a "Bah Humbug" kind of guy.

I find it difficult to get into the spirit of Christmas when stores start advertising Christmas items weeks before Thanksgiving and radio stations begin to play Christmas music almost as soon.

The reason for the season appears to have become profits and presents and the cynic in me begins to rebel.

Yet something amazing happens to me and I hope to all the other Scrooges out there. When I hear the

When I hear the Christmas story of Jesus' birth and sing the beloved Christmas carols, the Scrooge in me suddenly has an "Aha" moment. "Aha, this is the reason Ana, this is the reason for the season!" And then my imagination begins to work overtime thinking about all those "what if" things.

What if friends and neighbors could share this much good will and peace with one another all year long?

What if all those broken relationships could be healed so easily?

What if people were as eager to share all year long as they are at Christmas? Oh, what if ...?

And that is part of the mystery and challenge of the incarnation. Once Jesus the Christ is born in our hearts, the Scrooge in us begins to see the world and others differently moving to bring peace and goodwill to all.

Wouldn't that be a grand Christmas present? Merry Christmas!

RATE INCREASE NOTICE

XCEL ENERGY MINNESOTA ELECTRIC PRICES

Interim Change in Electric Rates Starting January 1, 2016

Until Final Decision is Made

XCEL ENERGY'S RATE INCREASE REQUEST

Xcel Energy has asked the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (MPUC) for a three-year increase in electricity rates. For 2016, the requested increase is for $194.6 million, or about 6.4 percent. For 2017, Xcel Energy requested an additional $52.1 million, or about 1.7 percent. For 2018, Xcel Energy requested an additional

PROPOSED CHANGES FOR MONTHLY ELECTRICITY BASE RATES

(12.24 - 1.10)

$50.4 million, or about 1.7 percent. The total increase requested for the three-year period is $297.1 million, or about 9.8 percent. (Xcel Energy has also offered an option for a five year rate plan.)

While the MPUC reviews Xcel Energy's request, state law allows Xcel Energy to collect higher rates on an interim (temporary) basis. The interim rate increase for 2016 is $163.7 million or about 5.5 percent over total current rates. This appears on customer bills as an interim rate adjustment. It is calculated from a change to the "Basic Service Charge," "Energy Charge," and if applicable the "Demand Charge" The interim rate adjustment is billed as a 7.75 percent increase, or about $5.06 per month, for a typical residential customer using 675 kWh.

Because Xcel Energy is requesting a multi-year rate plan, it also requested an increase to the interim rate starting January 1, 2017. If approved, the company will provide additional details before this increase happens.

The MPUC will likely make its decision on the overall rate request in 2017. If final rates are lower than interim rates, Xcel Energy will refund the difference. If final rates are higher than interim rates, Xcel Energy will not charge customers the difference.

WHY IS XCEL ENERGY ASKING FOR AN INCREASE?

Xcel Energy's last request for a rate increase was in 2013. Xcel Energy continues to invest in maintaining and upgrading its system. A multi-year rate plan provides customers more predictability and rate stability for a longer period of time than is achievable under a single year rate request.

HOW WILL THE RATE CHANGE AFFECT MONTHLY BILLS?

The proposed rate increase will affect individual monthly bills differently depending on electricity use and customer type. The proposed rate increase mainly affects the "Basic Service Charge," "Energy Charge," and, if applicable, the "Demand Charge." These charges cover the cost of providing electric service to our customers, representing about 70 percent of your total bill. This rate increase does not affect the Fuel Cost Charge.

WHAT IS XCEL ENERGY DOING TO CONTROL COSTS?

- Providing energy conservation options. This helps customers manage energy use and save money on their bills. This also helps to delay generation investments.
- · Reviewing and monitoring our business to minimize operating and maintenance cost increases.
- Operating power plants efficiently.
- · Using a variety of fuel sources to manage costs and protect the environment

WHAT IS THE PROCESS FOR REVIEWING XCEL ENERGY'S REQUEST?

The MPUC, the Minnesota Department of Commerce, the Office of the Attorney General-Residential Utilities and Antitrust Division, public interest groups, and large commercial and industrial customer groups will investigate our proposal.

The MPUC will hold public hearings and accept written comments about our rate request. Customers and others will be able to comment on our rate request at the public hearings. You may add verbal comments, written comments, or both into the record. Notice of the public hearing dates and locations will be published in local newspapers, included in monthly bills, and at: xcelenergy. com/rates, select "Minnesota" in top right-hand corner, select "Rates" then select "2016 Minnesota Electric Rate Case'

The family of Larry Hellwinckel would like to say thank you for all the kind words, prayers, food and memorials. Thank you to Pastor Mumme and Beth for all your support during our time of need, to the ladies in the kitchen for all your hard work, Dr. Ceynowa for the years of care and support, Hartquist for doing such a great job at guiding us all through a difficult time and Hospice for being so kind and supportive. God's blessings to you all.

Barb Hellwinckel Karen and Arlyn Sneller and family Kristy and Mike Willers and family Kim and Ron Ramert and family Lisa and Rod Rosin and family Kelly and Tom Dohlmann and family (12.13 - 12.24)

Dal and I want to give a big thank you to all the people that helped us go through a lot of changes in our lives. Thanks to Pastor Joe and our church, all the doctors and nurses at Sanford Luverne and Sioux Falls and Edgebrook Care Center, our darling children, special cousins, friends and neighbors for prayers, phone calls, cards, food etc. Most of all, thanks to our God who answered many of our prayers for us. Have a blessed Christmas and a great new year.
